

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

OF THE

CONVENTION OF THE STATE OF TENNESSEE,

Convened in the City of Nashville on Monday, the 10th day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and in the ninety-fourth year of American Independence, in pursuance of an Act of the General Assembly of the State aforesaid, entitled "An Act to provide for the Calling of a Convention," passed the 15th day of November, 1869.

THE ASSEMBLING.

Mr. NICHOLSON called the Convention to order, and read the following proclamation from the Governor:

"EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
NASHVILLE, January 10th, 1870. }

"To the People of the State of Tennessee, and to the Delegates to the Constitutional Convention, elected at the general election held in pursuance of an Act passed by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, on the 18th day of December, 1869, now assembled in Nashville :

"WHEREAS, By the 12th section of an Act 'entitled an Act to authorize the people to call a Convention and for other purposes,' passed November 15th, 1869, it is made the duty of the Governor and Secretary of State to compare the returns made by the Commissioners of Registration, of the votes cast at the general election held on the 18th day of December, 1869, for and against the Convention: therein provided for, and if a majority of those voting be in favor of a Convention, it shall be the duty of the Governor immediately to issue his proclamation announcing the result.

"Now, therefore, be it known, that upon a careful comparison of the returns made, it satisfactorily appears that a large majority of the votes so cast are in favor of said Convention, the votes for Convention being 50,520, and against 10,020, showing a majority of 40,500. I do, therefore, hereby proclaim that said Convention is carried by a majority of 40,500, as far as heard from.

"In testimony whereof, I have hereunto subscribed my official signature, and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed, at the Department in Nashville, this 10th day of January, 1870.

"D. W. C. SENTER."

"By the Governor:

"A. J. FLETCHER,
Secretary of State."

On motion of Mr. NICHOLSON, Bolling Gordon, the delegate from Hickman, was appointed temporary President of the Convention.

Mr. GORDON, on taking the Chair, addressed the Convention as follows:

GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION:

For the honor conferred upon me, unsuited as I am to preside over this body during its organization, accept my thanks. I receive it at your hands the more properly, because I am a sort of connecting link between the past and present generation. I stand before you as the sole return delegate to this body, being one who met with others, almost on this identical spot, thirty-five years ago, to give to the State a Constitution. Whether that instrument has been acceptable, it is not for me to inquire; but it certainly has to the great majority of the people of the State. I was associated with a class of men who performed great services for the State. I make mention of Blount, a man venerable in years and profound in erudition; Walton, an upright, sensible man, who occupied the same position in the Convention of 96, which I occupy in the present. To this class of men I may add the names of McKinney, of East, and Weakley, of West Tennessee. We had among us various distinguished men, whose deeds it is not necessary for me to recount. I may name the venerable Francis B. Fogg, of this city, who left his impress upon the Constitution. But society, like everything else, moves on, and we are now called upon to remodel that Constitution, to adapt it to the wants of the age.

May I not invoke this Convention, in which I see so many gray heads, and so many distinguished men, to aid in making a Constitutional Government which shall answer all the ends designed; may I not invoke you to discharge all the duties of the occasion with credit to yourselves, and with benefit to the State. I thank you, gentlemen.

THE ORGANIZATION.

Sixty-six members appearing, it was announced by the Chair that the first business in order was the election of a President, and that nominations were in order.

Mr. NETHERLAND nominated Mr. John C. Brown, delegate from the counties of Lincoln, Marshall and Giles.

There being no other person in nomination,

On motion of Mr. KENNEDY, Mr. Brown was declared the unanimous choice of the Convention for President.

The Chair appointed Messrs. Netherland and Jones, of Lincoln, to conduct the President elect to the chair, and on taking his seat he addressed the Convention as follows:

GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION:

While I am not insensible to the distinguished honor you have conferred on me, I trust you will give me credit for candor when I say that I would have preferred that the responsibilities which your generous confidence has imposed on me, should have been confided to one more experienced in parliamentary usage.

I am a stranger to deliberative bodies. I shall therefore be under the necessity of invoking your charity for my shortcomings, and your sympathy and assistance in the discharge of my official duties.

We have assembled at a most critical period in the history of our affairs. The peace, the happiness and prosperity of our beloved State may depend, in a great measure, for years to come, upon the wisdom, prudence and moderation which shall mark our deliberations. Questions of difficulty and delicacy may arise in the course of our proceedings. Let them be met and disposed of in a spirit worthy of those to whose hands the destinies of a great Commonwealth have been committed by a gallant and confiding people. Let us raise ourselves above the passions and prejudices of the hour, and dare to be just and generous regardless of the temptations prompting a contrary course. We cannot, we must not, be unmindful of the great changes that have impressed themselves upon our history. Let us accept the situation, and not seek to alter circumstances which have passed beyond our control. With this spirit animating every delegate, our session will speedily arrive at results which will satisfy all our people, and make Tennessee what she deserves to be, a great, happy and prosperous State.

With a sincere hope that all our deliberations may be characterized by justice and moderation, and again thanking you for the unmerited honor conferred upon me, I enter upon the discharge of the duties you have assigned me.

REPORT ON RULES.

Mr. CAMPBELL from the Committee appointed to draft rules and regulations for the Convention, reported the following, to-wit :

1st. Touching the duties of the President.

He shall take the Chair every day at the hour to which the Convention shall have adjourned on the preceding day; he shall immediately call the members to order, and, on the appearance of two-thirds of the members, shall cause the Journal of the preceding day to be read; he shall preserve decorum and order; may speak to points of order, in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose; and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the Convention by any two members; he shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting; questions shall be distinctly put in this form, to-wit: "As many as are of opinion that (as the question may be) say aye," and after the affirmative voice is expressed, "as many as are of a contrary opinion, say no." If the President doubts, or a division be called for, the Convention shall decide; those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats, and afterwards those in the negative. All Committees shall be appointed by the President, unless otherwise directed by the Convention, in which case they shall be appointed by ballot, and if upon such ballot the number required shall not be elected by a majority of votes given, the Convention shall proceed to a second ballot, in which a plurality of votes shall prevail; and in case a greater number than is required to compose or to complete the Committee, shall have an equal number of votes, the Convention shall proceed to a fourth ballot or ballots. In all cases of ballot by the Convention, the President shall vote. All acts, addresses and resolutions shall be signed by the President, and all writs, warrants or subpoenas, issued by order of the Convention, shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the Secretary. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the lobby, the President, or Chairman of the Committee of the whole Convention, shall have power to order the same to be cleared. Stenographers shall be admitted, and the President shall assign such places to them on the floor as shall not interfere with the convenience of the Convention.

2nd. Of decorum in debate.

When any member is about to speak in debate, or to deliver any matter to the Convention, he shall rise from his seat uncovered, and respectfully address himself to "Mr. President," or "Mr. Chairman," (as the case may be) and await the notice of the President or Chairman, and shall confine himself to the question under debate, and avoid disrespectful personalities. If any member, when speaking or otherwise, transgress the rules of the Convention, the President shall, or any member, may call to order, in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, unless permitted to explain; and the Convention shall, if appealed to, decide on the case, but without debate; if there be no appeal, the decision of the Chair shall be submitted to. If the decision shall be in favor of the person called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, and the case require it, he shall be liable to the censure of the Convention. When two or more persons happen to rise at once, the President shall name the person who is to speak. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question without leave of the Convention, nor more than once until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken. Whilst the President is putting any question or addressing the Convention, no one shall walk out of or across the House; nor whilst a member is speaking, shall any one entertain private discourse; nor whilst a member is speaking, shall any one pass between him and the Chair. Every member who shall be in the Convention when a question is put, shall give his vote, unless the Convention, for special reasons, shall excuse him.

When a motion is made and seconded, it shall be stated by the President; or being in writing, it shall be handed to the Chair, and read aloud by the Secretary before it is debated.

Every motion shall be reduced to writing if the President or any member desire it.

After a motion is stated by the President, or read by the Secretary, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the Convention, but may be withdrawn at any time before a decision or amendment.

When a question is under debate no motion shall be received, unless to amend it, to commit it, or for the previous question; to postpone to a day certain, or to lay on the table, or to adjourn.

A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, and shall be decided without debate.

When a question made once and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member of the majority to move for the reconsideration thereof.

The Convention shall have the power to compel the attendance of absent members.

No member shall absent himself from the service of the Convention, unless he has leave, or be sick and unable to attend.

The first member named on a Committee shall be Chairman of the same.

The Convention may be resolved into a Committee of the Whole for the discussion of any question that may be pending before the Convention.

The Convention, at all times, shall be considered in session when the President takes the Chair, and the roll shall not be called unless on application of a member.

The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question now be put?" and may be demanded by any member if seconded; and if sustained by a majority, shall prevail; and, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendment and further debate of the main question.

The unfinished business in which the Convention was engaged at the last preceding adjournment, shall have preference in the orders of the day; and no motion on any other business shall be received, without special leave of the Convention, until the former is disposed of.

On a motion made and seconded a call of the Convention shall be had.

No member shall vote on any question touching his own conduct in, or rights and privileges, as a member of this Convention.

The Secretary shall not suffer any records or papers to be taken from the table, or out of his custody, by any member or any other person, without leave of the Convention.

It shall be a standing rule of the Convention that the President be authorised to call any member of the Convention to occupy the Chair, and exercise the functions of President until he may resume the Chair; with this proviso, that the power given by this rule shall not be construed to confer on the President a right to place any member in the Chair for a longer period than one day.

Upon the motion of any member, if seconded, the ayes and noes may be called for and spread upon the Journal. Any person voting in the negative of any proposition, shall have the right of entering his protest and reasons for such vote upon the Journal, provided he shall use no disrespectful personalities, in such protest, against any member of this Convention. After the question is put and the affirmative vote taken, there shall be no further debate.

The preceding rules shall be observed in Committee of the Whole, so far as they are applicable, except that part of the rule which restricts members from speaking more than twice upon the same question, and except the rule in regard to the previous question.

All resolutions shall lie on the table for one day for consideration, unless in special cases when the Convention shall think proper to suspend the rule.

All of which is respectfully submitted

Mr. BAXTER, from the Committee on the Bill of Rights, made the following report, which was ordered to be laid on the table and printed :

WHEREAS, The people of the territory of the United States south of the Ohio river, having the right of admission into the General Government as a member State thereof, consistent with the Constitution of the United States, and the act of cession of the State of North Carolina, recognizing the ordinance for the government of the territory of the United States north-west of the Ohio River, by their Delegates and Representatives in Convention assembled, did, on the sixth day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and ninety-six, ordain and establish a Constitution, or form of government, and mutually agreed with each other to form themselves into a free and independent State, by the name of the State of Tennessee; and

WHEREAS, The General Assembly of said State of Tennessee, (pursuant to the third Section of the tenth Article of the Constitution,) by an act passed on the twenty-seventh day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty-three, entitled, "An Act to provide for the calling of a Convention," did authorize and provide for the election by the people of delegates and representatives, to meet at Nashville, in Davidson County, on the third Monday in May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty-four, for the purpose of revising and amending or changing the Constitution; and

WHEREAS, The General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, under and in virtue of the first Section of the first Article of the Declaration of Rights, contained in and forming a part of the existing Constitution of the State, by an act passed on the fifteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, entitled, "An Act to authorize the people to call a Convention, and for other purposes," did authorize the people of the State to call a Convention, to meet at Nashville, on the second Monday in January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and to elect delegates thereto, for the purpose of amending, revising, or forming and making a new Constitution; and

WHEREAS, The people of the State, in pursuance of, and in the mode authorized by said Act, have called said Convention, and elected delegates to represent them therein; now, therefore,

We, the Delegates and Representatives of the people of the State of Tennessee, duly elected and in Convention assembled, in pursuance of said Act of Assembly, have ordained and established the following Constitution and form of government for this State, which we recommend to the people of Tennessee for their ratification: that is to say—

ARTICLE I.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS.

Sec. 1. That all power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are founded on their authority, and instituted for their peace, safety, and happiness; for the advancement of those ends they have, at all times, an unalienable and indefeasible right to alter, reform, or abolish the government in such manner as they may think proper.

Sec. 2. That government being instituted for the common benefit, the doctrine of non-resistance against arbitrary power and oppression is absurd, slavish, and destructive of the good and happiness of mankind.

Sec. 3. That all men have a natural and indefeasible right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own conscience; that no man can, of right, be compelled to attend, erect, or support any place of worship, or to maintain any minister against his consent; that no human authority can, in any case whatever, control or interfere with the rights of conscience; and that no preference shall ever be given, by law, to any religious establishment or mode of worship.

Sec. 4. That no religious or political test, other than an oath to support the Constitution of the United States and of this State, shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under this State.

Sec. 5. That elections shall be free and equal, and the right of suffrage, as hereinafter declared, shall never be denied to any person entitled thereto, except upon a conviction by a jury of some infamous crime, previously ascertained and declared by law, and the judgment thereon by a court of competent jurisdiction.

Sec. 6. That the right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate.

Sec. 7. That the people shall be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and possessions from unreasonable searches and seizures; and that general warrants, whereby an officer may be commanded to search suspected places, without evidence of the fact committed, or to seize any person or persons not named, whose offences are not particularly described and supported by evidence, are dangerous to liberty, and ought not to be granted.

Sec. 8. That no man shall be taken or imprisoned, or disseized of his freehold, liberties or privileges, or outlawed or exiled, or in any manner destroyed, or deprived of his life, liberty, or property, but by the judgment of his peers, or the law of the land.

Sec. 9. That in all criminal prosecutions, the accused hath a right to be heard by himself and his counsel; to demand the nature and cause of the accusation against him, and to have a copy thereof: to meet the witnesses face to face; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor; and in prosecutions by indictment or presentment, a speedy public trial by an impartial jury of the County or District in which the crime shall have been committed, unless the same shall be changed, for good cause, to another County or District in the mode to be prescribed by a general public law, passed before the alleged commission of the offense; and shall not be compelled to give evidence against himself.

Sec. 10. That no person shall, for the same offence, be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb.

Sec. 11. That laws made for the punishment of acts committed previous to the existence of such laws, and by them only declared criminal, are contrary to the principles of a free government; wherefore no ex post facto law shall be made.

Sec. 12. That no conviction shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture of estate. The estate of such persons as shall destroy their own lives shall descend or vest as in case of natural death. If any person be killed by casualty, there shall be no forfeiture in consequence thereof.

Sec. 13. That no person arrested and confined in jail shall be treated with unnecessary rigor.

Sec. 14. That no citizen shall be put to answer any criminal charge but by presentment, indictment or impeachment.

Sec. 15. That all prisoners shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, unless for capital offenses, when the proof is evident or the presumption great. And the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in case of rebellion or invasion the General Assembly shall declare the public safety requires it.

Sec. 16. That excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

Sec. 17. That all courts shall be open; and every man, for an injury done him in his lands, goods, person or reputation, shall have remedy by due course of law, and right and justice administered without sale, denial or delay. Suits may be brought against the State, in such manner and in such courts as the Legislature may, by law, direct.

Sec. 18. That the person of a debtor, where there is not strong presumption of fraud, shall not be continued in prison after delivering up his estate for the benefit of his creditor or creditors, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

Sec. 19. That the printing presses shall be free to every person who undertakes to examine the proceedings of the Legislature, or of any branch or officer of the government; and no law shall ever be made to restrain the right thereof. The free communication of thoughts and opinions is one of the invaluable rights of man, and every citizen may freely speak, write and print on any subject, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty. But in prosecutions for the publication of papers investigating the official conduct of officers or men in public capacity, the truth thereof may be given in evidence; and in all indictments for libels, the jury shall have a right to determine the law and the facts, under the direction of the court, as in other criminal cases.

Sec. 20. That no retrospective law, or law impairing the obligations of contracts, shall be made.

Sec. 21. That no man's particular services shall be demanded, or property taken, or applied to public use, without the consent of his representatives, or without just compensation being made therefor.

Sec. 22. That perpetuities and monopolies are contrary to the genius of a free State, and shall not be allowed.

Sec. 23. That the citizens have a right in a peaceable manner to assemble together for their common good, to instruct their representatives, and to apply to those invested with the powers of government for redress of grievances, or other purposes, by address or remonstrance.

Sec. 24. That the sure and certain defense of a free people is a well regulated militia ; and, as standing armies in time of peace are dangerous to freedom, they ought to be avoided as far as the circumstances and safety of the community will admit ; and that in all cases the military shall be kept in strict subordination to the civil authority.

Sec. 25. That no citizen of this State, except such as are employed in the army of the United States, or militia in actual service, shall be subjected to punishment under the martial law.

Sec. 26. That the citizens of this State have a right to keep and to bear arms for their common defense.

Sec. 27. That no soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner ; nor in time of war, but in a manner prescribed by law.

Sec. 28. That no citizen of this State shall be compelled to bear arms, provided he will pay an equivalent to be ascertained by law.

Sec. 29. That an equal participation of the free navigation of the Mississippi is one of the inherent rights of the citizens of this State ; it cannot, therefore, be conceded to any prince, potentate, power, person or persons whatever.

Sec. 30. That no hereditary emoluments, privileges or honors, shall ever be granted or conferred in this State.

Sec. 31. That the limits and boundaries of this State be ascertained, it is declared they are as heretofore mentioned, that is to say : Beginning on the extreme height of the Stone Mountain, at the place where the line of Virginia intersects it, in latitude thirty-six degrees and thirty minutes north ; running thence along the extreme height of said mountain, to the place where Watauga River breaks through it ; thence in a direct course to the top of the Yellow Mountain, where Bright's road crosses the same ; thence along the ridge of said mountain, between the waters of Doe River and the waters of Rock Creek, to the place where the road crosses the Iron Mountain ; from thence along the extreme height of said mountain, to the place where Nolichucky River runs through the same ; thence to the top of the Bald Mountain ; thence along the extreme height of said mountain, to the Painted Rock, on French Broad River ; thence along the highest ridge of said mountain, to the place where it is called the Great Iron or Smoky Mountain ; thence along the extreme height of said mountain, to the place where it is called Unicoi or Unaka Mountain, between the Indian towns of Cowee and Old Chota ; thence along the main ridge of said mountain, to the southern boundary of this State, as described in the act of cession of North Carolina to the United States ; and that all the territory, lands and waters lying west of said line, as before mentioned, and contained within the chartered limits of the State of North Carolina, are within the boundaries and limits of this State, over which the people have the right of exercising sovereignty, and the right of soil, so far as is consistent with the Constitution of the United States, recognizing the Articles of Confederation, the Bill of Rights, and Constitution of North Carolina, the cession act of the said State, and the ordinance of Congress for the government of the territory North-west of the Ohio; Provided, nothing herein contained shall extend to affect the claim or claims of individuals to any part of the soil which is recognized to them by the aforesaid cession act; And provided also, that the limits and jurisdiction of this State shall extend to any other land and territory now acquired, by compact or agreement, with other States or otherwise, although such land and territory are not included within the boundaries hereinbefore designated.

Sec. 32. The erection of safe and comfortable prisons, the inspection of prisons, and the humane treatment of prisoners shall be provided for.

Sec. 33. That Slavery and involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, are forever prohibited in this State.

Sec. 34. The General Assembly shall make no law recognizing the right of property in man.

MINORITY REPORT ON THE ELECTIVE FRANCHISE.

Mr. FENTRESS, from the Minority of the Committee on Elections and Franchise, made the following report, which was read, and 150 copies of it and the Report of the Majority ordered to be printed:

We, the undersigned, members of the Committee on Elective Franchise, beg leave to submit the following report, to-wit:

We cannot concur with the Majority of the Committee in drawing a black line across the word "white" in the Constitution of Tennessee, and in their action, refusing to submit the question of negro suffrage to be voted upon as a separate proposition by the people.

We hold that the negro race is the lowest order of human beings, incapable in themselves of a virtuous, intelligent or free government ; and for the truth of this, we appeal to history, and challenge the world to show a single exception.

We hold that the inferiority of the negro to the white man, in race, color and capacity for permanent, well-ordered government, has been fixed by Him, who "doeth all things well," and whose natural or revealed law has never been violated by any human government without disaster and confusion. The proud Castilian violated this natural law, when, instead of recognizing in the body politic, the distinction which God had made between him and the Aztec, the Indian and the negro, he made them politically equal, and swift destruction came upon him, insomuch that his pure blood cannot now be traced in the mongrel, miscegenating horde, who, by never-ceasing revolution and civil strife, desolate the rich and beautiful lands of Mexico.

We hold that the elective franchise is the highest crowning right which can be held by a freeman ; the which, when a man shall be legally entitled to enjoy, there doth necessarily follow those incidentals—the right to sit on juries, to hold office, and (what is more terrible to contemplate) the right to social equality and intermarriage.

We hold that this Convention should not be moved by fear of arbitrary power, to shut their eyes to the light of experience, and falling in with the fanaticism of the hour, deny the truth, and blindly rush, in defiance of the natural law of God, to the confusion of our race, and destruction of the government our fathers left us.

We hold that the people of Tennessee have the right to consider this tremendous question for themselves, as a separate, distinct proposition, as the people of New York, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri and Connecticut, have lately done ; and, having considered it in all its bearings, to decide it for themselves, free from the incumbrance of any other questions ; and that any attempt by this Convention to prevent a fair expression of their will, by refusing to allow the people to vote upon it as a separate question, will be a gross violation of the rights of the people, and of the principles of republican and democratic government ; especially so in this case, because no expression of the will of the people, or general discussion upon it was had, pending the election, in a large majority of the Districts, represented by Delegates in this Convention ; and, in a great many, the question was not even mentioned, and deliberate discussion was impossible in the brief time between the call of the Convention and election of Delegates ; therefore,

In behalf of the people of Tennessee, and in view of the fact that no Convention of any State in the United States has refused to submit this question as a separate proposition back to the people, and following the precedent of the States above mentioned, and in order that due discussion and deliberation, and the light of events which may transpire between the adjournment of this Convention and the time fixed for the vote of the people, may be had; having also the utmost confidence that when said subject has been discussed, deliberated upon and weighed, the people will do right. It is recommended that this Convention adopt the following, to-wit:

That on the — day of —, A. Sec. 3. The Governor of the State shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint the Judges of the Supreme Court.

MINORITY REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY.

The undersigned, a minority of the Committee on the Judiciary, not being able to concur in the conclusion arrived at by a majority, begs leave to submit the following :

Being the youngest member of the Committee, of experience less enlarged, and of knowledge less accurate and extensive than those with whom he has had the honor to be associated, he presents this report with great deference, and urges, as his excuse for so doing, his utter inability to reconcile with his sense of duty the action of the majority. He would have great distrust of his own judgment if he stood alone in his views, but as he knows himself to be supported by the ablest writers, and by the most eminent Judges who have adorned the jurisprudence both of our own and other countries, and as he feels assured that the majority of the Committee entertain views not dissimilar to his own on the main question which has received their consideration, he has entire confidence in the opinions which have actuated him to submit this report.

Ever since the undersigned was led to reflect upon the subject at all, he has never had a doubt as to the proper method of choosing Judges. It seems to him to be so plain that the method of their appointment and the tenure of their office should be such as to secure their independence and impartiality, and that these cannot be secured by popular election, that he is at a loss to understand how any diversity of opinion could have arisen upon the subject. Every good citizen recognizes the importance, nay, the necessity, of an upright, an impartial, an independent Judiciary. This can never be secured, as the undersigned firmly believes and confidently asserts, by popular elections. If our Judges are to be constantly looking forward to re-election, as they will be, and shaping their conduct accordingly—if they are to engage in strife and demoralizing contests for office—if they are to witness the zealous efforts of friends to retain them in place, and the determined endeavors of those who are not friends, to pull them down—they cannot, they will not, as long as human nature is what it now is—be independent and impartial.

It is in vain to say that if the election of Judges be taken from the people, an unwillingness to trust them will be shown. The undersigned has quite as much confidence in the people as those who urge this objection. He believes in the honesty of the people, and that their disposition is to do right. He cannot disguise from himself, however, the fact that they are frequently misled; but is happy to know that the "sober second thought" always brings them back to the true path. Whilst the undersigned entertains no distrust of the people, he has a very great distrust of those who habitually seek office before them. The people themselves have no great confidence in this class; and if we establish a system by which our Judges will be compelled to enter the arena and become office-seekers, this lack of confidence will soon attach to them, who, above all other men, should be without reproach. If they are to engage in indecent scuffles for place, they cannot escape infection, and will not be long in learning the arts of the political trickster, and in resorting to his practices. It may be safely assumed that their conduct will be shaped with a view to their continuance in office.

The undersigned does not forget that for some years past the Judges in our State have been elected by the people; but this will hardly be appealed to by the advocates of an elective Judiciary. The recollection is not encouraging. The system has not given satisfaction, and its operation should be a sufficient warning without reference to the experience of other States in which the same system has been adopted, and to which the attention of the advocates of this doctrine might be directed with profit.

There is nothing in the objection that the non-election of Judges by the people is inconsistent with the principles of a free government. The undersigned believes it not only to be in accordance with such principles, but necessary to their maintenance. History, were it necessary to appeal to it, would abundantly fortify this conclusion. In England, the freest and the most enlightened country on the globe except our own, the Judges have always been appointed by the Crown. She can point to a long list of names of illustrious men in the history of her Judiciary who were an honor to their country and to humanity. Her people are, to-day, indebted, in a great measure, to the unswerving impartiality and sturdy independence of her Judges for the fixed and stable character of her institutions. Under this system she has grown solid as a mountain rock; her power and her wealth have become almost boundless; her limits have been extended, until she boasts that the sun never sets on her territory, and that her morning reveille is heard all round the globe.

In our own country, the wisest body of men that ever assembled, provided, in Convention, in 1787, that Judges should not be elected by the people. That act of theirs was ratified by the States of the Confederation, and has been in operation, under our federal system, for more than three-quarters of a century. It has, during all that time, worked well. Independent, enlightened and upright Judges, have presided in our Federal Courts. Every American refers with pride to such men as Marshall and Story, whose names shine among the brightest stars in the galaxy of jurisprudence. Has any one ever seriously entertained a thought of changing this system to an elective Judiciary? The undersigned has never so much as heard of a proposition of the kind on the part of any party or person, and he believes that any attempt of the kind would be regarded by the people as an insane project.

The majority of the Committee have reported that Judges of the Supreme Court should be nominated, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, appointed by the Governor. If it be right and proper so to appoint Supreme Judges, a fortiori, the Judges of the inferior Courts should be likewise appointed. Supreme Judges are, in a great degree, removed from the influences of the prejudices and passions of the day, whilst the Judges of inferior Courts are daily brought in contact with them and with the multitude swayed by them. How important, then, to remove as far as possible from these officials all temptation to yield. It is idle to dream of human perfection. Judges have the same imperfections, are liable to the same errors, and are moved by the same excitements with ourselves. When we invest a man with the robes of judicial office, we do not, at the same time, invest him with any additional virtue—he is not so paroled as to ward off all extraneous influences—nor doth his dignity so hedge him in as to repel all improper approach. We must frame our plans for man as he is, and not for man as he would be, were he free from vice.

There is one other proposition reported by the majority to which the undersigned cannot assent. It is this: the majority propose to vacate the offices of all the Circuit Judges and Chancellors in the State immediately upon the ratification of the amended Constitution. With all due deference for the opinion of the Committee, the undersigned cannot see the justice of the measure proposed. In no view that he has been able to take of it can he perceive its propriety or its necessity. It is believed that the impolicy of such a step will present itself to the mind of every member of the Convention upon the slightest reflection. We cannot be oblivious, if we would, of the circumstances which surround us. It is the part of wisdom, nay, common prudence dictates, that in all our acts we should have reference to the exigencies upon us, whenever we can do so, as we can in this case, without a sacrifice of principle or violation of right.

Dismissing this consideration, there are other reasons, satisfactory to the mind of the undersigned, why these offices should not be vacated as proposed. The Convention may have the power to vacate them, and if the exercise of the power be approved by the people, it will be rendered effectual; but something more will be required to demonstrate its justice and expediency. During the early part of the last year, and previously thereto, a clamorous demand was raised for the election of Judges and Chancellors. It was urged, on all sides that the Constitution had been, and was continually being violated by the Executive in appointing men to fill these offices. The powerful influence of the press was brought to bear in this direction. The pressure of public opinion (not the opinion of any one class or party) became so great that the General Assembly yielded and passed a law to bring about the election of Judges, Chancellors and Attorneys-General. The present incumbents yielded to the solicitations of friends and members of the Bar to become candidates—they left their practice, in many instances lucrative; they were elected for the term of eight years, with the understanding and the undoubted expectation that they should discharge the duties, and enjoy the emoluments and privileges of their offices for the full period. Yet the proposition is to turn them out before the lapse of one-fourth of their terms, and that without the preferment of any charge. It occurs to the undersigned that we ought not to disappoint the reasonable expectations of these officers, under the circumstances, unless an imperious necessity demanded it. The objection that the present incumbents were elected at a time when no fair expression of the popular will could be had by vote, is more specious than solid. There was a fair, a decided, an overwhelming expression of public opinion in favor of the law to bring about the election at the time therein specified, and the present officials were favored and encouraged to become candidates, by men of all parties. Were we about to inaugurate a new system, it might be proper to put it into operation as soon as practicable; but to retain the present plan, and to arbitrarily eject these men from office, and fill their places in the same manner by which they were chosen, would seem to many to be the dictate of party spirit, and to savor of injustice. Besides, it would bring to bear against our labors an opposition too formidable to be despised or disregarded; and, in all probability, under the plan proposed by the majority, and as it now exists, we would get no better men than we now have. The undersigned has not been able to see how the difficulties of the situation can be better met than to change the method of choosing Judges, but to permit those now in office to continue until the expiration of the time for which they were elected. Whilst the new system would be delayed, we would at once reap some of its advantages, and rid ourselves of a great evil incident to the existing system, for the present Judges, knowing that they could not again be elected by the people, would be uninfluenced by any such consideration. No necessity for precipitate action can be perceived. We are not sitting here as a legislative assembly, whose acts may, in a few months, be repealed and set aside. We hope and expect our work to last for generations; and if, by a little delay, we can get a good system, we can well afford to wait.

The same reasons which have led to these conclusions apply with equal force to Attorneys-General.

Other amendments have been reported by a majority of the Committee about which there is no material disagreement. Although not in all respects such as could be desired, they are matters about which an opinion may be yielded in deference to the opinions of others or in a spirit of compromise. The undersigned offers, therefore, the following amendments, viz.:

ARTICLE VI.

Section 1, The judicial power of this State shall be vested in one Supreme Court; in the Circuit and Chancery Courts, and in such inferior Courts as the Legislature shall, from time to time, ordain and establish; and in the Judges thereof and in Justices of the Peace. The Legislature may also vest such jurisdiction as may be deemed necessary in corporation Courts.

Sec. 2. The Supreme Court shall be composed of three Judges, one of whom shall reside in each of the grand divisions of the State; the concurrence of two of said Judges shall, in every case, be necessary to a decision. The jurisdiction of this Court shall be appellate only, under such restrictions and regulations as may, from time to time, be prescribed by law; but it may possess such other jurisdiction as is now conferred by law on the present Supreme Court. Said Courts shall be held at one place, and at one place only, in each of the three grand divisions of the State.

Sec. 3. The Judges of the Supreme Court, and the Judges of the Circuit and Chancery Courts, and of such inferior Courts as the Legislature may establish, shall be nominated, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate (a majority of the Senators concurring) be appointed by the Governor. Courts may be established to be holden by Justices of the Peace. Judges of the Supreme Court shall not be less than forty years of age.

Sec. 4. The Judges of the Circuit and Chancery Courts, and of the inferior courts, shall not be less than thirty-five years of age.

Sec. 5. Judges of the Supreme Court shall hold their office for twelve years, and Judges of the Circuit and Chancery and inferior courts for eight years.

Sec. 6. An Attorney-General for the State at large, and an Attorney-General for the State in each judicial circuit, shall be nominated, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, (a majority of the Senators concurring) appointed by the Governor.

Sec. 7. The Attorney-General for the State shall hold his office for twelve years, and each of the Attorneys-General in the judicial circuits of the State shall hold his office for eight years.

SCHEDULE.

Section 1. That no inconvenience may arise from a change of the Constitution, it is declared that all laws shall remain in full force until changed by the General Assembly, which shall sit under this amended Constitution, and all civil officers shall continue to hold their offices and discharge all the duties appertaining to the same until the expiration of the time for which they were elected.

Sec. 2. To remedy the inconvenience that has arisen from an accumulation of business in the Supreme Court, it is declared, that immediately upon the ratification of this amended Constitution, the Governor shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, appoint three Judges, one from each of the grand divisions of the State, who, with the present Supreme Judges, shall for the time being, constitute the Supreme Court of Tennessee. They shall sit in the same division of the State, but in different chambers, or at different hours, so as in effect to constitute two courts. One of these courts shall hear and determine all the equity causes; the other all the law causes in said Court, under the laws, rules and regulations as now prescribed in said court. The Judges herein appointed shall receive the same compensation as the present Judges, and shall continue in office until the expiration of the term for which the present Judges were elected; forever afterwards the Supreme Court shall consist of three Judges, to be appointed as prescribed in Section 3, of Article VI, of this Constitution.

In all else the undersigned would leave the Judiciary system unchanged. He does not so far mistake the temper of this Convention as to flatter himself that these amendments will be made. He expects to see them rejected or disregarded; but whatever may be their fate, he has discharged his duty, and his conscience is at rest.

Respectfully submitted,

W. B. STALEY.

REPORT ON FINANCE, INTERNAL IMPROVEMENTS AND CORPORATIONS.

Mr. GARDNER, from the Committee on Finance, Internal Improvements and Corporations, made the following report, which was read, and

On motion of Mr. HOUSE, of Williamson, 100 copies were ordered to be printed:

MR. PRESIDENT:

The Committee on "Finance, Internal Improvements and Corporations," having had under consideration the subjects referred to them, instruct me to report the following amendments, and recommend their adoption by the Convention:

CORPORATIONS.

Strike out the proviso at the end of Article XI, Section 7, and insert the following:

"No corporation shall be created by special laws, but the General Assembly shall provide by general laws for the organization of all corporations, hereafter created, which laws may, at any time, be altered, or repealed."

TAXATION.

Strike out the 28th Section of the 2nd Article, and insert the following:

" All property, real, personal or mixed, shall be taxed, except such as may be held by the State, by counties, cities or towns, and used for public or corporation purposes, and such as may be held for purposes purely religious, charitable, scientific, literary or educational; and except one thousand dollars' worth of personal property in the hands of each tax-payer, and the direct products of the soil in the hands of the producer.

" All property shall be taxed according to its value—that value to be ascertained in such manner as the Legislature shall direct, so that the same shall be equal and uniform throughout the State. No one species of property, from which a tax may be collected, shall be taxed higher than any other species of property of the same value.

" Capital invested in the buying and selling of merchandise shall be estimated for taxation at the highest value of the stock of merchandise on hand at any one period in the year preceding its assessment, and merchants shall pay in addition to an ad valorem tax thereupon, a specific tax which shall not exceed five hundred dollars per annum, to be graduated as the Legislature shall direct; but peddlers and privileges, may be taxed in such manner as may, from time to time, be prescribed by law.

" The Legislature shall have power to levy a special tax upon incomes derived from stocks and bonds exempted by the laws of the United States from taxation.

" All male citizens of this State, over the age of twenty-one years, shall be liable to a poll tax of not less than one nor more than five dollars per annum, until such age as may be fixed by law."

INTEREST.

Strike out Article XI, Section 6, and insert the following :

" The legal rate of interest in this State shall be six per centum per annum ; but the Legislature shall have power to provide by law for a conventional rate of interest."

All of which is respectfully submitted,

JNO. A. GARDNER,

Chairman.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT FURTHER CONSIDERED.

The Convention proceeded to the consideration of the special order of the day.

Mr. HOUSE's amendment giving the Governor a qualified veto, was taken up, when Mr. PORTER, of Haywood, offered the following amendment in lieu of Mr. HOUSE's :

Section —. Every bill which shall have passed both Houses of the General Assembly, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the Governor. If he approve the bill he shall sign it and deposit it in the office of Secretary of State for preservation, and notify the House where it originated of the fact, and the same shall become a law. But if he disapprove of it, or any part or parts of it, containing separate and distinct provisions, he shall return it to that House in which it shall have originated, with his objections to the whole or to such part or parts of it as he shall disapprove, which shall enter the objections at large on their Journal and proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration either of an entire bill or of a part or parts of said bill objected to, as the case may be, two-thirds of all the members elected to that House, shall agree to pass the whole bill, it shall be sent together with the objections to the other House, by which it shall be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of all the members elected to that House, it shall become a law, notwithstanding the objections of the Governor.

If either of the two Houses shall not thus approve of the part or parts objected to, the bill containing such part or parts shall be approved by the Governor, shall, without unnecessary delay after the the vote is taken on such reconsideration, be engrossed as a separate bill, and returned to the Governor for his signature. But in all such cases the votes of both Houses shall be determined by the yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the Journals of each House respectively. In case any bill shall not be returned by the Governor within five days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as though he had signed it, and he may approve, sign, and file in the office of the Secretary of State, within five days after the adjournment of the Legislature, any act passed within the last five days of the session, and the same shall become a law; but unless signed within that time the same shall not become a law.

Mr. PORTER subsequently withdrew his amendment.

Mr. THOMPSON, of Maury, demanded the previous question, which demand was sustained.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

Mr. STEPHENS, from the Committee on the Legislative Department, made the following report, 100 copies of which were, on motion of Mr. Gardner, ordered printed for the use of the Convention.

MR. PRESIDENT:

I am instructed by the Committee on the Legislative Department to report that they have had under consideration the various matters referred to them; and not supposing it necessary to repeat here each proposition, or to discuss its merits, they have deemed it sufficient to announce the following as their unanimous conclusion upon the whole matter.

The change of dates in some of the sections of Article II, which they recommend, are such as are necessary to adapt the Constitution to the new starting point from which we are setting out. The more important amendments which they propose to engraft on Article II, such as those regulating the compensation of members of the General Assembly, and the mode of enacting laws, and the power of the Legislature to embark the State in debt, and the power of counties and incorporated cities and towns to loan their credit, and to become joint stockholders with others, are, all of them, the result of an earnest conviction on the part of the committee that some such changes in the organic law are essential to the prosperity of the State.

It appearing that the subjects embraced within Section 28 of Article II, were properly within the jurisdiction of the Committee on Finance, Internal Improvements, and Corporations, the consideration of that section, by mutual agreement, was referred to that committee. The section recommended by them, in lieu of Section 28, is inserted in its proper order in this report.

Taking up Article II, I am instructed to recommend that said Article be amended as follows:

Section 3—To the end of this section add the words, “who shall hold their offices for two years from the day of the general election.”

Section 4—Strike out the word “forty-one” in the third line, and insert the word “seventy-one.”

Section 7—Strike out the word “thirty-five” in the third line, and insert “seventy-one.”

Sec. 8—Strike out the word “thirty-five” in the third line, and insert “seventy-one.”

Sec. 11—Strike out in the fourth line the words “Two-thirds of each House,” and insert “Not less than two-thirds of all the members to which each House shall be entitled.”

Sec. 17—Add to the end of this section the words, “No bill shall pass which embraces more than one subject; that subject to be expressed in the title. All acts which repeal, revive or amend former laws, shall recite in their caption or otherwise the title or substance of the law repealed, revived or amended.”

Sec. 18—Strike out all after the word “shall,” near the end of the third line, and insert “have been read and passed on three different days in each house, the assent of a majority of all the members to which that house shall be entitled under this Constitution; and shall have been signed by the respective Speakers, in open session, the fact of such signing to be noted on the Journal; and shall have received the approval of the Governor, or shall have been otherwise passed under the provisions of this Constitution.”

Sec. 21—Strike out “two,” in the sixth line, and insert “five.”

Sec. 23—Strike out the word “first” in the third line.

After the word “Assembly,” at the end of the third line, insert “elected after the ratification of the Constitution.”

After the word “services,” in the fourth line, strike out all of said section, and insert, “But no member shall be paid for more than seventy-five days of a regular session, or for more than twenty days of an extra or called or adjourned session, or for any day when absent from his seat in the Legislature, unless physically unable to attend. The Senators, when sitting as a Court of Impeachment, shall each receive four dollars per day of actual attendance.”

Sec. 28—Amended as reported by the Chairman of the Committee on Finance, etc.

Sec. 29—Add to the end as follows: “But the credit of no county, city, or town shall be given or loaned to or in aid of any person, company, association or corporation, except upon an election to be first held by the qualified voters of such county, city, or town, and the assent of three-fourths of the votes cast at said election. Nor shall any county, city or town become a stockholder with others in any company, association, or corporation, except upon a like election, and the assent of a like majority."

Section 31—Strike out this section and insert: "The credit of this State shall not be hereafter loaned or given to or in aid of any person, association, company, corporation or municipality; nor shall the State become a stockholder with others in any association, company, corporation or municipality."

With these amendments, Article II, in its complete form, will read as hereinafter written.

Respectfully submitted,

WM. H. STEPHENS, Chairman.

January 24th, 1870.

In apportioning the Senators among the different counties, the fraction that may be lost by any county or counties, in the apportionment of members to the House of Representatives, shall be made up to such county or counties in the Senate as near as may be practicable. When a district is composed of two or more counties, they shall be adjoining; and no county shall be divided in forming a district.

Sec. 11. The Senate and House of Representatives, when assembled shall each choose a Speaker and its other officers, be judge of the qualifications of its members, and sit upon its own adjournments from day to day. Not less than two-thirds of all the members to which each House shall be entitled, shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized by law to compel the attendance of absent members.

Sec. 12. Each House may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member, but not a second time for the same offence; and shall have all other powers necessary for a branch of the Legislature of a free State.

Sec. 13. Senators and Representatives shall in all cases, except treason, felony, or breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during the session of the General Assembly, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either House, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

Sec. 14. Each House may punish by imprisonment, during its session, any person, not a member, who shall be guilty of disrespect to the House, by any disorderly or any contemptuous behavior in its presence.

Sec. 16. Neither House shall, during its session, adjourn without the consent of the other for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.

Sec. 18. Every bill shall be read once on three different days, and be passed each time in the House where it originated, before transmission to the other. No bill shall become a law until it shall have been read and passed, on three different days in each House, and shall have received, on its final passage in each House, the assent of a majority of all the members to which that House shall be entitled under this Constitution; and shall have been signed by the respective Speakers in open session—the fact of such signing to be noted on the Journal; and shall have received the approval of the Governor, or shall have been otherwise passed under the provisions of this Constitution.

Sec. 19. After a bill has been rejected, no bill containing the same substance shall be passed into a law during the same session.

Sec. 20. The style of the laws of this State shall be, "Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee."

Sec. 21. Each House shall keep a Journal of its proceedings, and publish it, except such parts as the welfare of the State may require to be kept secret; the ayes and noes shall be taken in each House upon the final passage of every bill of a general character, and bills making appropriations of public moneys; and the ayes and noes of the members on any question, shall, at the request of any five of them, be entered on the Journal.

The members, when sitting as a court of impeachment, shall each receive four dollars per day of actual attendance.

Sec. 24. No money shall be drawn from the treasury, but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and an accurate statement of the receipts and expenditures of the public money shall be attached to and published with the laws at the rise of each stated session of the General Assembly.

Sec. 25. No person who heretofore hath been, or may hereafter be, a collector or holder of public moneys, shall have a seat in either House of the General Assembly, until such person shall have accounted for, and paid into the Treasury, all sums for which he may be accountable or liable.

Sec. 26. No Judge of any Court of Law or Equity, Secretary of State, Attorney General, Register, Clerk of any Court of Record, or person holding any office under the authority of the United States, shall have a seat in the General Assembly: nor shall any person in this State hold more than one lucrative office at the same time; Provided, that no appointment in the militia, or to the office of Justice of the Peace, shall be considered a lucrative office, or operative as a disqualification to a seat in either House of the General Assembly.

Sec. 27. Any member of either House of the General Assembly shall have liberty to dissent from and protest against, any act or resolve which he may think injurious to the public or to any individual, and to have the reasons for his dissent entered on the journals.

Sec. 28. "All property, real, personal or mixed, shall be taxed, except such as may be held by the State, by counties, cities or towns, and used for public or corporation purposes, and such as may be held for purposes purely religious, charitable, scientific, literary or educational, and except one thousand dollars's worth of personal property in the hands of each tax-payer, and the direct product of the soil in the hands of the producer.

All property shall be taxed according to its value, that value to be ascertained in such manner as the Legislature shall direct, so that the same shall be equal and uniform throughout the State. No one species of property from which a tax may be collected shall be taxed higher than any other species of property of the same value.

Capital invested in the buying and selling of merchandise shall be estimated at the highest value of the stock of merchandise on hand at any one period of the year preceeding its assessment; and merchants shall pay, in addition to an ad volarem tax thereupon, a specific tax, which shall not exceed five hundred dollars per annum, to be graduated as the Legislature shall direct; but peddlers and privileges may be taxed in such manner as may from time to time be prescribed by law.

The Legislature shall have power to levy a special tax upon incomes derived from stocks and bonds, exempted by the laws of the United States from taxation.

All male citizens of this State, over the age of twenty-one years, shall be liable to a poll tax of not less than one nor more than five dollars per annum, until such age as may be fixed by law.

Sec. 29. The General Assembly shall have power to authorize the several counties and incorporated towns in this State, to impose taxes for county and corporation purposes respectively, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law, and all property shall be taxed according to its value, upon the principles established in regard to State taxation.

But the credit of no county, city or town shall be given or loaned to or in aid of any person, company, association or corporation except upon an election to be first held by the qualified voters of such county, city or town, and the assent of three-fourths of the votes cast at said election. Nor shall any county, city or town become a stockholder with others in any company, association, or corporation, except upon a like election and the assent of a like majority.

Sec. 30. No article manufactured of the produce of this State, shall be taxed otherwise than to pay inspection fees.

Sec. 31. The credit of this State shall not be hereafter loaned or given to or in aid of any person, association, company, corporation or municipality: nor shall the State become a stockholder with others in any association, company, corporation or municipality.

Mr. JONES, of Lincoln, moved the adoption of the report of the minority of the Committee in lieu of the recommendation of the majority—pending the consideration of said motion, the Convention,

On motion of Mr. BATE, adjourned until to-morrow morning, at 10 o'clock.

The Roll was called for Memorials and Petitions.

TO AMEND THE RULES.

Mr. BRITTON submitted the following amendment to the Rules :

Resolved, That the rules governing the proceedings of this House be so amended, that no member shall be permitted to speak more than fifteen minutes upon any single proposition proposing an amendment to the Constitution, unless he shall first obtain leave of the Convention to do so.

Resolved, further, That this rule shall not apply to the proposition now under consideration, but to all propositions that may hereafter come up for consideration in this House.

MEMORIAL.

Mr. IVIE presented a memorial from a large number of citizens of Bedford, Marshall and Rutherford counties, in favor of establishing a new county, which, without being read, was referred to the Committee on New Counties and County Lines.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT FURTHER CONSIDERED.

On motion of Mr. JONES, of Lincoln, the unfinished business of yesterday was postponed and the resolution of Mr. MARTIN, defining the terms on which the militia shall be called into service, was taken up.

On motion of Mr. JONES, of Lincoln, the resolution of Mr. MARTIN was amended by striking out the words "for any party or political purpose, and shall not call them into service in any case." The resolution as amended will read :

The Governor shall not, in any event, call into service the militia except that of rebellion or invasion ; and in such case the General Assembly shall declare the public safety requires it.

Mr. DROMGOOLE offered the following in lieu :

“The Governor shall not call into service the militia of this State in any case, unless the General Assembly shall declare the public safety requires it.”

Mr. HOUSE, of Davidson, Robertson and Montgomery, submitted the following, in lieu of the original resolution and the amendment in lieu :

The Governor shall have no power to call the militia into service except in case of armed rebellion or invasion ; and in such case the General Assembly, by a majority of two-thirds of all the members elected to each House, shall first declare, by joint resolution that, the public safety requires it.

Mr. HEISKELL submitted the following in lieu of the original resolutions and all pending amendments :

The General Assembly shall have no power to authorize the militia to be called into actual service, except when in case of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it.

In case the law shall be resisted by combinations too powerful to be controlled by the civil authorities of the State, such call may be authorized for not more than ten days at a time, and then only by a law declaring the necessity to exist and defining the powers to be conferred.

Sec. 2. All impeachments shall be tried by the Senate. When sitting for that purpose the Senators shall be upon oath or affirmation, and the Chief Justice of the Court of Errors and Appeals, or, if he be on trial, the Senior Associate Judge shall preside over them. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the Senators sworn to try the officer impeached.

Sec. 4. The Governor, Judges of the Court of Errors and Appeals, Judges of the Supreme Courts, Judges of the Inferior Courts, Chancellors, Attorneys for the State, and Secretary of State, shall be liable to impeachment, whenever they may, in the opinion of the House of Representatives, commit any crime in their official capacity which may require disqualification ; but judgment shall only extend to removal from office, and disqualification to fill any office thereafter. The party shall, nevertheless, be liable to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment, according to law.

Sec. 5. Justices of the Peace, and other civil officers, not hereinbefore mentioned, for crimes or misdemeanors in office, shall be liable to indictment in such courts as the Legislature may direct ; and upon conviction, shall be removed from office by said court, as if found guilty on impeachment ; and shall be subject to such other punishment as may be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE VI.

Section 1. The Judicial power of this State shall be vested in one Court of Errors and Appeals, and in three Supreme Courts, and in such Circuit, Chancery and other inferior Courts as the Legislature shall from time to time ordain and establish, and the Judges thereof, and in Justices of the Peace. The Legislature may also vest such jurisdiction in corporation courts as may be deemed necessary. Courts to be holden by Justices of the Peace may also be established.

Sec. 2. The Court of Errors and Appeals shall consist of three Judges, of whom not more than one shall reside in any one of the grand divisions of the State. They shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State at large. They shall hold one term of the Court of Errors and Appeals annually, in the city of Nashville, at such times as the Legislature shall fix. They shall designate one of their number who shall preside as Chief Justice. The concurrence of two of said Judges shall, in every case, be necessary to a decision. Every Judge of the Court of Errors and Appeals shall be not less than thirty-five years of age, and shall, before his election, have been a resident of the State five years. The jurisdiction of this Court shall be appellate only under such restrictions and regulations as may be prescribed, from time to time, by law; Provided, that this Court shall have jurisdiction of no cause except such as may be prosecuted to this Court from the Supreme Courts, under such restrictions and regulations as may now exist or may be fixed, from time to time, by law, for the removing of causes from Inferior Courts to Superior Courts for the correction of errors; Provided, that the Court of Errors and Appeals shall have jurisdiction of no civil cause, except in cases involving questions of the constitutionality of an Act of the General Assembly, or the rights and duties of public officers, when the amount involved is less than $500 00; Provided, the Legislature shall have power to fix, from time to time—with the exception before named—the amount over which this Court shall have jurisdiction; Provided, the amount shall not be less than $500 00; Provided, that causes involving the constitutionality of an Act of the General Assembly, or the rights and duties of public officers, shall be prosecuted direct to the Court of Errors and Appeals from such Inferior Courts as may now exist or be established, from time to time, by law, in the same manner as causes are now removed from said Inferior Courts to the present Supreme Court, and under such other restrictions and regulations as may be fixed from time to time, by law.

Sec. —. There shall be three Supreme Courts. One of said Courts shall be held at Knoxville, for the Grand Division of East Tennessee; one shall be held at Nashville, for the Grand Division of Middle Tennessee; one shall be held at Jackson, for the Grand Division of West Tennessee. The Legislature shall fix the time for the holding of these Courts. In all cases where the Attorney for any Division or District fails or refuses to attend and prosecute, according to law, the Courts shall have power to appoint an Attorney pro tem.

Sec. —. Judges and Attorneys for the State may be removed from office by a concurrent vote of both Houses of the General Assembly, each House voting separately; but two-thirds of all the members elected to each House must concur in such vote; the vote shall be determined by ayes and noes, and the names of the members voting for or against the Judge or Attorney for the State, together with the cause or causes of removal, shall be entered on the Journals of each House, respectively. The Judge or Attorney for the State, against whom the Legislature may be about to proceed, shall receive notice thereof, accompanied with a copy of the causes alleged for his removal, at least ten days before the day on which either House of the General Assembly shall act thereupon.

Sec. —. The Judges of the Courts of Errors and Appeals, and the Supreme Courts and Inferior Courts, shall, at stated times, receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, which shall not be increased or diminished during the time for which they are elected. They shall not be allowed any fees or perquisites of office; nor hold any other office of trust or profit under this State, or the United States.

Sec. —. The jurisdiction of the Circuit, Chancery and other Inferior Courts, shall be as now established by law, until changed by the Legislature.

Sec. —. Judges shall not charge juries with respect to matters of fact, but may state the testimony and declare the law.

Sec. —. The Judges, Chancellors, or Justices of the Inferior Courts of Law and Equity, shall have power, in all civil cases, to issue writs of certiorari to remove any cause, or the transcript of the record thereof, from any inferior jurisdiction into such courts of law, on sufficient cause, supported by oath or affirmation.

Sec. —. No Judge of the Court of Errors and Appeals, or of the Supreme Courts or Inferior Courts, shall preside on the trial of any cause in the event of which he may be interested, or where either of the parties shall be connected with him by affinity or consanguinity, within such degree as may be prescribed by law, or in which he may have been of counsel, or in which he may have presided in any Inferior Court, except by the consent of all the parties. In case any or all of the Judges of the Supreme Court shall be thus disqualified from presiding on the trial of any cause or causes, the Court, or the Judges thereof, shall certify the same to the Governor of the State, and he shall forthwith specially commission the requisite number of men, of law knowledge, for the trial and determination thereof. In case of sickness of any of the Judges of the Supreme or Inferior Courts, so that they or any of them are unable to attend, the Legislature shall be authorized to make provision, by general laws, that special Judges may be appointed to attend said courts. The Legislature may, by general laws, make provision that special Judges may be appointed to hold any courts, the Judges of which shall be unable, or fail to attend or sit, or to hear any cause in which the Judge may be incompetent.

Sec. —. All writs and other process shall run in the name of the State of Tennessee; and bear test and be signed by the respective clerks. Indictments shall conclude, "against the peace and dignity of the State."

Sec. —. Judges of the Court of Errors and Appeals, and of the Supreme Courts, shall appoint their clerks, who shall hold their terms of office for six years. Chancellors shall appoint their Clerks and Masters, who shall hold their offices for a period of eight years. Clerks of such Inferior Courts, as may be hereafter established, which shall be required to be holden in the respective counties of this State, shall be elected by the qualified voters thereof, for the term of four years; they shall be removed from office for malfeasance, incompetency, or neglect of duty, in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

Sec. —. No fine shall be laid on any citizen of this State that shall exceed fifty dollars, unless it shall be assessed by a jury of his peers, who shall assess the fine at the time they find the fact, if they think the fine should be more than fifty dollars.

Sec. —. The different counties of this State shall be laid off as the General Assembly may direct, into districts of convenient size, so that the whole number in each county shall not be more than twenty-five, or four for every one hundred square miles. There shall be two Justices of the Peace and one Constable elected in each district by the qualified voters therein, except districts including county towns, which shall elect three Justices and two Constables. The jurisdiction of said officers shall be co-extensive with the county. Justices of the Peace shall be elected for the term of six, and Constables for the term of two years. Upon the removal of either of said officers from the district in which he was elected, his office shall become vacant from the time of such removal. Resolved, That that the following be received and adopted in lieu of the Majority and Minority Reports of the Committee on the Judiciary :

ARTICLE V.

IMPEACHMENT.

First Section to remain as in the present Constitution, to-wit :

Section 1. The House of Representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment.

Sec. 2. All impeachments shall be tried by the Senate; when sitting for that purpose, the Senators shall be upon oath or affirmation, and the senior Judge of the Supreme Court, or if he be on trial, the senior of the two remaining Judges, shall preside over them. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the Senators sworn to try the officer impeached.

Here follow Sections 3, 4 and 5, as in the present Constitution, to-wit :

Sec. 3. The House of Representatives shall elect, from their own body, three members, whose duty it shall be to prosecute impeachments. No impeachment shall be tried until the Legislature shall have adjourned, sine die, when the Senate shall proceed to try such impeachment.

Sec. 4. The Governor, Judges of the Supreme Court, Judges of the Inferior Courts, Chancellors, Attorneys for the State, and Secretary of State, shall be liable to impeachment, whenever they may, in the opinion of the House of Representatives, commit any crime in their official capacity which may require disqualification; but judgment shall only extend to removal from office, and disqualification to fill any office thereafter. The party shall, nevertheless, be liable to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment according to law.

Sec. 5. Justices of the Peace, and other civil officers, not hereinbefore mentioned, for crimes or misdemeanors in office, shall be liable to indictment in such courts as the Legislature may direct; and, upon conviction, shall be removed from office by said Court, as if found guilty on impeachment; and shall be subject to such other punishment as may be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE VI.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

Sec. 1. The Judicial power of this State shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and in such Circuit, Chancery, Criminal and other Inferior Courts, as the Legislature shall, from, time to time, ordain and establish, in the Judges thereof and in Justices of the Peace.

The 2d and 3d Sections as our present Constitution except strike out the word "eight" in the last clause of Section 3, and insert twelve, to-wit:

Sec. 2. The Supreme Court shall be composed of three Judges, one of whom shall reside in each of the grand divisions of the State; the concurrence of two of said Judges shall, in every case, be necessary to a decision. The jurisdiction of this Court shall be appellate only, under such restrictions and regulations as may, from time to time, be prescribed by law; but it may possess such other jurisdiction as is now conferred by law on the present Supreme Court. Said courts shall be held at one place, and at one place only, in each of the three grand divisions of the State.

Sec. 3. The Judges of the Supreme Court shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State at large, and the Judges of such inferior courts as the Legislature may establish shall be elected by the qualified voters residing within the bounds of any district or circuit to which such inferior Judge or Judges, either of law or equity may be assigned, by ballot, in the same manner that members of the General Assembly are elected. Courts may be established to be holden by Justices of the Peace. Judges of the Supreme Court shall be thirty-five years of age, and shall be elected for the term of twelve years.

Section 4, to remain as in the present Constitution, except strike out "eight" and insert ten, to-wit:

An Attorney General for the State shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State at large, and the Attorney for the State for any circuit or district to which a Judge of an inferior court may be assigned, shall be elected by the qualified voters within the bounds of such district or circuit, in the same manner that members to the General Assembly are elected; all said Attorneys, both for the State and circuit or district, shall hold their offices for the term of six years. In all cases where the Attorney for any district fails or refuses to attend and prosecute according to law, the court shall have power to appoint an Attorney pro tempore.

Sec. 6. Judges and Attorneys for the State may be removed from office by a concurrent vote of both Houses of the General Assembly, each House voting separately; but two-thirds of all the members elected to each House must concur in such vote; the vote shall be determined by ayes and noes, and the names of the members voting for or against the Judge or Attorney for the State, together with the cause or causes of removal, shall be entered on the Journals of each House respectively. The Judge or Attorney for the State, against whom the Legislature may be about to proceed, shall receive notice thereof, accompanied with a copy of the causes alleged for his removal, at least ten days before the day on which either House of the General Assembly shall act thereupon.

Sec. 7. The Judges of the Supreme Court shall, at stated times, receive a compensation for their services to be ascertained by law, which shall not be less than four thousand dollars per annum. The salaries of Circuit Judges and Chancellors, and Judges of Criminal Courts, shall be fixed by law, but shall not in any case be less than three thousand dollars per annum. No fees or perquisites of office shall attach to the office of Supreme, Circuit or Chancery Judge, or Judge of a Criminal Court, nor shall either of them hold any other office of trust or profit, under this State or the United States.

Sec. 8. The jurisdiction of the Circuit, Chancery and other Inferior Courts shall be as now established by law until changed by the Legislature.

Section 9 as in the present Constitution, to-wit:

Sec. 11. No Judge of the Supreme or Inferior Courts shall preside on the trial of any cause in the event of which he may be interested, or where either of the parties shall be connected with him by affinity or consanguinity within such degrees as may be prescribed by law, or in which he may have been of counsel, or in which he may have presided in an inferior court, except by the consent of all the parties. In case all or any of the Judges of the Supreme Court shall be thus disqualified from presiding on the trial of any cause or causes, the Court or the Judges thereof shall certify the same to the Governor of the State, and he shall forthwith specially commission the requisite number of men of law knowledge for the trial and determination thereof.

The Legislature may by general laws make provision that Special Judges may be appointed to hold any courts, the Judges of which shall be unable, or fail to attend or sit; or to hear any cause in which the Judge may be incompetent.

Sections 12, 13, 14 and 15, as in the present Constitution, to-wit :

Sec. 12. All writs and other process shall run in the name of the State of Tennessee, and bear test and be signed by the respective Clerks. Indictments shall conclude, "against the peace and dignity of the State."

Sec. 13. Judges of the Supreme Court shall appoint their Clerks, who shall hold their offices for six years. Chancellors (if Courts of Chancery shall be established) shall appoint their Clerks and Masters, who shall hold their offices for a period of six years. Clerks of such inferior courts, as may be hereafter established, which shall be required to be holden in the respective counties of this State, shall be elected by the qualified voters thereof, for the term of four years; they shall be removed from office for malfeasance, incompetency, or neglect of duty, in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

Sec. 14. No fine shall be laid on any citizen of this State that shall exceed fifty dollars, unless it shall be assessed by a jury of his peers, who shall assess the fine at the time they find the fact, if they think the fine should be more than fifty dollars.

Sec. 15. The different counties of this State shall be laid off, as the General Assembly may direct, into districts of convenient size, so that the whole number in each county shall not be more than twenty-five, or four for every one hundred square miles. There shall be two Justices of the Peace and one Constable elected in each district, by the qualified voters therein, except districts including county towns, which shall elect three Justices and two Constables. The jurisdiction of said officers shall be co-extensive with the county. Justices of the Peace shall be elected for the term of six, and Constables for the term of two years. Upon the removal of either of said officers from the district in which he was elected, his office shall become vacant from the time of such removal. Justices of the Peace shall be commissioned by the Governor. The Legislature shall have power to provide for the appointment of an additional number of Justices of the Peace in incorporated towns.

SCHEDULE.

To meet present emergencies, and relieve the dockets of the Supreme Court of the great accumulation of causes now upon them, it shall be the duty of the Governor of the State, immediately after the ratification of the amended Constitution, to appoint two additional Supreme Judges, who, together with the present Supreme Judges or their successors, shall compose the Supreme Court of the State, for the time being—who shall sit together and try causes—the concurrence of three being necessary to a decision. Said two additional Supreme Judges shall receive, each, the same compensation as each one of the other three Judges. And said five Supreme Judges shall hold their office until the first election for Supreme Judges under this schedule. At the first election of Supreme Judges under this schedule, and forever thereafter, only three Supreme Judges shall be elected, as provided for in Section 3, Article VI, of this Constitution.

That no inconveniencies may arise from a change of the Constitution, it is declared that all civil officers of this State, except the Attorney-General and Reporter for the State, the several District Attorneys-General, and the Judges of the several courts, shall hold their respective offices until the expiration of the present term of service.

The present Supreme Judges and those to be appointed by the Governor, also the Circuit Judges and Chancellors, and Judges of Criminal Courts and other inferior courts, shall hold their office until their successors are elected under this schedule. The present Attorney-General and Reporter, and the several District Attorneys-General, shall hold their office until their successors are elected under this schedule.

The first election for Circuit Judges and Chancellors and Judges of Criminal Courts, and District Attorneys-General, shall be held on the — day of —, 1870, by the Sheriffs of the several counties, in the manner prescribed by the Code of Tennessee.

The first election for Judges of the Supreme Court and for an Attorney-General and Reporter for the State, shall be held on the first Tuesday of May, 1872.

MEMORIAL.

Mr. JONES, of Lincoln, presented a memorial from sundry citizens, praying the creation of a new county out of portions of Lincoln, Franklin and Bedford Counties; which, without being read, was referred to the Committee on New Counties and County Lines.

Mr. TURNER, from the Committee on Miscellaneous Provisions, made the following report, which, on motion of Mr. TAYLOR, was ordered to be laid on the table, and 100 copies printed for the use of the Convention :

REPORT ON MISCELLANEOUS MATTERS.

MR. PRESIDENT: The Committee on Miscellaneous Provisions, having under consideration the various subjects referred to them, instruct me to report the following amendments, and recommend their adoption. The Committee ask to be discharged from the consideration of those questions not reported upon :

Taking up Article XI, I am instructed to recommend that said Article be amended as follows :

At the end of Section 3, add as follows :

"The Legislature shall have the right, at any time, by law, to submit to the people the question of calling a Convention to alter, reform or abolish this Constitution, and when, upon such submission, a majority of all the votes cast shall be in favor of said proposition, then delegates shall be chosen, and the Convention shall assemble in such mode and manner as shall be prescribed."

After Section 5, add a section as follows :

Sec. —. "The Legislature shall have no power to change the names of persons, or to pass Acts adopting or legitimating persons, but shall, by general laws, confer this power on the courts."

After Section 11, insert a section as follows :

Sec. —. "No member of the Legislature nor Convention, or judicial officer of this State shall receive, while in office, either directly or indirectly, any gift, gratuity, fee or reward from any person or corporation, otherwise than by the general law of the land."

After the last Section, insert the following Section :

Sec. —. "A homestead, in the hands of each head of a family, in this State, occupied as a residence, together with all the improvements on the same, to the value of not less than one thousand dollars, shall be exempt from forced sale under any process of law during the lifetime of such head of a family, and the minority of his or her children, and shall not be alienated without the joint consent of husband and wife, when that relation exists ; but no property shall be exempt from sale for taxes or for the payment of obligations contracted for the purchase of said premises, or for the erection of improvements thereon.

"The Legislature may increase the amount of this exemption."

After the last Section insert the following Section :

Sec. —. "The intermarriage of white persons with negroes, mulattoes, or persons of mixed blood, descended from a negro to the third generation, inclusive, is prohibited."

"The Legislature shall enforce this section by appropriate legislation."

I am instructed to report an amendment to Article II, Section 25, so as to make it read as follows :

"No person who heretofore hath been, or may hereafter be a collector or holder of public moneys, shall hold any civil office under this State, until such person shall have accounted for and paid into the Treasury all sums for which he may be accountable or liable."

I am instructed to report the following section, in lieu of Article VII, Section 1, so as to make the office of Trustee a Legislative office, if the same shall be retained by them, instead of having it a Constitutional office.

Section 1. "There shall be elected in each county, by the qualified voters therein, one Sheriff and one Register—the Sheriff for two years, and the Register for four years; Provided, that no person shall be eligible to the office of Sheriff more than six years in any term of eight years."

"There shall be elected for each county, by the Justices of the Peace, one Coroner and one Ranger, who shall hold their offices for two years. Said officers shall be removed for malfeasance, or neglect of duty, in such manner as may be prescribed by law."

A portion of the Committee differ with a majority as to a portion of the propositions before them, but agree to the greater part of the report.

PROTEST.

Mr. STALEY presented the following protest against the action of the majority in adopting Article IV on yesterday :

"The undersigned having voted against the amendment proposed by a majority of the Committee on Elections and Elective Franchise, avails himself of his right to enter upon the Journal the reasons for his dissent. The majority of said Committee have reported, 'That each voter shall give to the judges of election where he offers to vote, satisfactory evidence that he has paid his poll-taxes then due by him, without which his vote cannot be received.' The undersigned is unwilling to aid in placing any restriction of the kind on the exercise of this great and important right for the reasons following :

1. It is a property qualification.
2. Many good men, whose only fault is their poverty, will be deprived of the elective franchise.

3. The poll-tax may be increased to such an extent as to amount to a prohibition of the exercise of this right by many.

4. It will still further corrupt the ballot-box.

5. The tendency of power in this country is to steal continually from the hands of the many into the hands of the few. This clause in the amendment, proposed by the majority, will encourage this tendency, and give to the opulent candidate an advantage over his less fortunate opponent, which he should not have.

It is regretted that the majority of the Committee felt it their duty to insert this clause, for in all other respects the report is unobjectionable, and but for this clause would be cheerfully supported.

W. B. STALEY.

PROTEST.

Mr. GIBSON presented the following protest, which, at his request, was ordered to be spread on the Journal :

The undersigned cannot satisfy their sense of duty to themselves and to their constituents without stating in full the reasons that prompted their vote against the 1st Section of the 4th Article of the Amended Constitution, known as the Franchise Section. That section requires that every voter before he can vote shall produce "satisfactory evidence" to the judges of election that he has paid his poll-tax. Had it not been for this required prepayment of the poll-tax the undersigned would gladly have voted for said section. Their constituents now vote without any tax restriction, and they cannot consent to impose such restriction upon them; they favor the removal of all restrictions, and not the creation of new ones.

But the undersigned are firm believers in the doctrine that suffrage is a right and not a privilege—as much a right as life, liberty or property—a right not to be limited and not to be restricted except as to age, time and place; and above all, a right not to be bestowed on the rich in preference to the poor. Suffrage is the political means of self-defense, and the disfranchised man is, or soon will be, a slave. Such being their cardinal doctrine, the undersigned would enumerate the following minor reasons for their vote :

1st. The right to restrict the elective franchise implies the right to destroy it.

If one obstacle can be placed between the voter and the ballot-box, the entire road can be closed. If one qualification can be required, so can another, so can many. Is the payment of money a better pre-requisite for voting than is proof of loyalty, or of intelligence or morality?

2d. The required pre-payment of the poll-tax is an unjust discrimination against the poor man. What is taxation? Taxation is the price of protection. But the poor man, having but little property, needs but little protection. And yet, by said section, the poor man has just the same tax to pay before he can vote as the rich man.

3d. The required pre-payment of the poll-tax as a qualification for voting is more oppressive to the rich than a property qualification.

Where there is a property qualification the voter can vote and pay his poll-tax afterwards. But here he must pay his poll-tax before he can vote at all. In truth, this whole thing is nothing but a property qualification in disguise.

4th. The required pre-payment of the poll-tax will give the rich candidate an unjust but great advantage over a poor candidate.

The rich candidate, in person or through friends, can pay the poll-tax of every poor man favorable to his election, while the poor men, favorable to the poor candidate, will in many cases be unable to vote. And here the door is opened to infinite bribery and infinite corruption in Tennessee politics.

5th. The required pre-payment of the poll-tax will enable a partisan tax collector to disfranchise many voters. Suppose the tax-collector should refuse to receive the poll-tax from certain voters, or should absent himself, for political purposes, or should resign or die shortly before an election, how easily could he thus change the result of an election, and defeat the true will of the people. We see here commissioners of registration with a new name!

6th. The required pre-payment of the poll-tax only substitutes a tax receipt for the present voting certificate. The voter has to produce "satisfactory evidence" to the judges of election that he has paid his poll-tax. What is "satisfactory evidence?" It is legal evidence sufficient to satisfy the judicial mind; and that legal evidence the courts will quickly declare must be a tax receipt, the most odious of voting certificates.

7th. The required prepayment of the poll-tax will enable partisan judges of election to disfranchise legal voters. Democratic judges will be "satisfied" with little or no "evidence" when a Democrat offers his vote; but will require the most "satisfactory evidence," to-wit: a tax receipt, when a Republican offers his vote, and vice versa. How monstrous the inducement to corruption!

8th. The required pre-payment of the poll-tax will be the mother of infinite contests and strife in elections.

In consequence of the possible frauds above mentioned being actually perpetrated, many lawful voters will be practically disfranchised, and many unlawful voters allowed to vote. Fraudulent tax receipts will be forged. Perjury will usher in many a vote. Bribery will luxuriate around the ballot-box. Poor men will stand back with a sigh, while the rich put in their votes. Challenges will be endless; and the resulting strife and bad feeling infinite. Nobody will be satisfied. The ballot will lose its dignity. Elections will become a farce; and—but we prefer to drop the curtain upon the last scene in this horrid drama.

And therefore it is, that the undersigned predict that this required pre-payment of the poll-tax will be odious to the people. It will array the poor men of Tennessee, the men who fight your battles, and who constitute your wealth and your strength, in solid phalanx against that Constitution which strikes at the most precious of all their rights. It will awaken a breeze of opposition in every settlement from the Blue Ridge to the Mississippi; and if that breeze is swelled into a storm by the advocates of white suffrage, and that storm is swelled into a tempest by the removal of the existing judiciary; and that tempest swelled into a tornado by the friends of free schools, then will this fabric of government, we are here erecting, be swept away, and "like the baseless fabric of a vision, leave not a wreck behind."

For the foregoing considerations, the undersigned protest against so much of said franchise section as requires the pre-payment of poll-tax as the condition of voting; and ask that this their protest be spread upon the Journal.

2. That it shall be the duty of said returning officers in each county in this State, to prepare poll-books, which shall be opened on said day of election, and in which shall be enrolled the name of each voter by the assistance of the clerks, who shall be appointed and sworn as clerks in other elections. Said officers shall prepare a ballot-box, in which shall be placed the ticket of each voter. Each ticket shall have written or printed thereon the words "I ratify the new Constitution," or if the voter is opposed to it, "I reject the new Constitution," or the words "ratification" or "rejection," or some such words as will distinctly convey the intention of the voter.

IMPEACHMENT OF JUDGE FRAZIER.

Mr. BAXTER, from the Select Committee on Impeachment and the case of Judge Thos. N. Frazier, made the following report :

MR. PRESIDENT: The Select Committee charged with the duty of inquiring what action, if any, is proper to be taken by this Convention to relieve persons impeached from the penalties imposed, with instructions to report whether any action is necessary in reference to the case of the Hon. Thomas N. Frazier, have instructed me to make the following report:

REPORT.

"That the General Assembly having adjourned from May to November, 1866, the Governor, by proclamation, summoned the members thereof to meet in extraordinary session on the intervening 4th of July. Under this call, a part of the members of that body, less than a quorum, assembled on the day appointed, in the Capitol, for the purpose of organizing as an Assembly, and proceeding in the discharge of their legislative duties. The members thus assembled in the House, finding themselves without a quorum, undertook to force the attendance of absent members, and by resolution authorized and directed their Speaker to issue his warrant, commanding the Sergeant-at-Arms to arrest and bring them before the House, 'to answer for their conduct and contempt of the House.' In obedience to and under the authority of this resolution, a warrant was issued for the arrest of Pleasant Williams, a member of the House. Armed with this assumed authority, the Sergeant-at-Arms proceeded to arrest Mr. Williams, at his residence in Carter County, forced him to Nashville, and held him for several days a prisoner in one of the rooms of the Capitol. While thus held as a prisoner, Mr. Williams, through counsel, applied to Judge Frazier for a writ of habeas corpus. The writ, as a matter of course, was granted, duly served and returned for hearing, the questions of law and fact involved in the case were argued by able counsel, for and against the application, and after due consideration his Honor was of opinion that the petitioner, Williams, was illegally restrained of his liberty and ordered his release.

It was for this act Judge Frazier was impeached: the articles charging his judgment was erroneous, and pronounced with the corrupt intent of hindering the organization and invading the privileges of the House; and upon these charges he was arraigned, tried and convicted, removed from his office and disqualified from ever afterwards holding any office under the authority of this State.

The arrest and imprisonment of Mr. Williams proceeded from a misapprehension of the constitutional power of the House in the premises. The only clause in the Constitution of Tennessee (Article II, Section 11,) relating to this question, is in the following words: 'Two-thirds of each House shall constitute a quorum to do business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized by law to compel the attendance of absent members.' But this provision does not authorize a minority or less than a quorum of either House of the General Assembly, in the absence of legislation upon the subject, to enforce the attendance of absent members. Such was not the intention of the framers of our Constitution, but their purpose was, as the language used by them clearly imports, to authorize the Legislature to provide by law for such a contingency. Upon this point there was no diversity of opinion until the impeachment of Judge Frazier. Mr. Cushing, a writer of acknowledged ability upon 'The Elements of the Law and Practice of Legislative Assemblies,' Section 257, commenting on this clause of our Constitution, says:

'Clauses of this description authorize the Legislatures of the States in which they prevail, to provide by law, that such Legislative Assembly, though containing less than a quorum, may compel the attendance of its members; and this authority may as well be exercised so as to relate to the first assembling, as after the constitution of the first Assembly. When this is the case, if the requisite number do not appear, those who do, may of course, resort to the measures provided by law, to compel the attendance of absent members.'"

In the absence, therefore, of the legislation contemplated by the clause of our Constitution recited above, and there was none, authorizing the arrest and imprisonment of members for non-attendance, the action against Mr. Williams was unauthorized and illegal. Having no authority themselves, the members assembled could communicate none to their Sergeant-at-arms; and being illegally restrained of his liberty, it was a plain and impeartive duty imposed by law upon Judge Frazier, upon Williams' application made in pursuance of law, to issue the writ of habeas corpus prayed for.

A refusal to have done so under the circumstances of the case, would have been a gross dereliction of duty, and subjected Judge Frazier to heavy pecuniary damages. So the Convention will perceive that in the judgment of your Committee Judge Frazier was impeached at a period of high party excitement, convicted and punished, not for any abuse of his judicial powers, but for a manly, honest, correct and enlightened administration of the law, and in consequence, there is a strong obligation resting upon this Convention, to relieve Judge Frazier of the disabilities imposed by said conviction and judgment, if he has not been already relieved by the action recently taken by the General Assembly in his behalf.

A majority of your Committee, however, believe that the Legislature possesses the constitutional power to remove disabilities imposed by the judgment of a court of impeachment, and that its action recently taken in regard to Judge Frazier's case is effective to restore him to all the rights and immunities which he possessed prior to his conviction.

But as this power is not expressly given by the existing Constitution, and as there is some conflict of opinion on this point, the committee have directed me to present the following amendment, and recommend its adoption as a part of the Constitution to be framed by this Convention, and submitted to the people for their ratification :

Insert as an additional section of the 5th Article the following:

"Sec. 5. The Legislature now has, and shall continue to have power to relieve from the penalties imposed, any person disqualified from holding office by the judgment of a Court of Impeachment."

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN BAXTER, Chairman.

On motion of Mr. HOUSE, of Williamson, the proposed amendment of the Committee was adopted as Section 5, of Article V, of the Constitution.

On motion of Mr. HOUSE, of Williamson, it was ordered that 100 copies of the report be printed for the use of the Convention.

Immediately after the ratification of this Constitution the Legislature shall, by joint ballot, elect nine temporary Judges, three from each Grand Division of the State, who shall constitute the Supreme Court, until the first Saturday in March, 1871, and until the election and qualification of the permanent Supreme Court provided for in the Constitution.

causes at the same time; but they shall not sit in different grand divisions at the same time.

In order to dispose of the accumulated business, there shall be elected three Judges by the qualified voters of each grand division of the State, who shall hold their offices until the first day of January, 1872, unless the business is sooner disposed of; three of whom shall sit in Jackson, three in Nashville, and three in Knoxville, and hear causes and deliver their opinions in the same manner as the Supreme Court now does; and the Clerks of each of these Courts shall, within ten days after the decision of each case, in which a written opinion is delivered, transmit the record and briefs and opinion therein, to the regular Judges of the Supreme Court at Nashville, who, until the first of January, 1872, shall act as a revising Court, approving the decisions of the temporary Courts, hereinbefore provided for, or disapproving them, and rendering such judgment as should have been rendered; Provided, that no argument shall be made before the revising Court, nor shall any other brief be presented or read save such as were presented to the temporary Court on the trial; and that on the first day of January, 1872, or as soon as the business of the three temporary Courts herein established shall cease, and the regular Supreme Judges shall resume their proper duties, holding their Courts at Knoxville, Nashville and Jackson, as the Supreme Court of Tennessee.

Mr. HEISKELL offered the following in lieu of Mr. House's amendment, and of the second, third and fourth paragraphs of the Schedule:

At the first election of Judges under this Constitution, there shall be elected two Judges of the Supreme Court from each grand division of the State, who shall hold their offices for the term herein prescribed. In the event, however, that at any time after the first day of January, 1873, if any vacancy shall occur in the office of Supreme Judge, it shall remain unfilled, and the Court shall from that time be constituted of five Judges.

While the Court shall consist of six Judges, they may sit in two sections, and hear and determine causes in each at the same time, but not in different grand divisions at the same time. In each section two Judges shall be necessary to a decision; Provided, that the office of the sixth Judge may be vacated after January 1, 1873, in such manner and at such time as shall be determined by the Legislature.

TUESDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 8, 1870.

The Convention met pursuant to adjournment, Mr. President BROWN in the Chair.

The Journal of yesterday was read and approved.

MEMORIALS AND PETITIONS.

Mr. IVIE presented a memorial from a number of citizens of Bedford County, praying that the Constitution be so amended, that towns and civil districts shall have power, by vote, to prevent the sale of spirituous liquors in their limits, which was read and referred to the Committee on Miscellaneous Provisions.

Mr. BRANDON presented a memorial from sundry citizens of Stewart County, praying that the Constitution be so amended that old counties, in the formation of new ones, may be reduced to four hundred square miles, which, without being read, was referred to the Committee on New Counties and County Lines.

Mr. THOMPSON, of Maury, presented the following memorial :

Your memorialist states that the Bank of Tennessee is the holder of two notes drawn by Isaac M. Jamieson ; the first, dated January 16, 1862, for two hundred dollars, and payable at four months ; the second is dated February 12, 1862, for two hundred dollars, and also payable at four months. The Bank of Tennessee assigned these notes after they had become due, and when said Bank was insolvent, to Samuel Watson, in trust for the benefit of its creditors. Subsequent to said assignment the said Watson instituted separate suits upon said notes in the Circuit Court of Maury County, where the same are now pending. The said Isaac M. Jamieson hath since the institution of said suits departed this life intestate, and your memorialist is his administrator. Your memorialist now states that since his appointment he has tendered to the attorney and agent of said Bank, and said Watson, payment of said notes, and the legal interest thereon to date of tender, in the bills and notes of said Bank issued prior to the assignment made to the said Watson, and said Watson and said agent refuses to accept the tender so made, alleging that the bills and notes so tendered by your memorialist were issued by the Bank after the 6th day of May, 1861, and that being so issued they have been declared by the amendment made to the Constitution of the State, and adopted in February, 1865, to be illegal and void. Your memorialist states that he has been informed and believes that the Judges of the courts of Tennessee believe and hold that said amended Constitution is a law unto them which they are not at liberty to disregard.

Your memorialist is informed that Section 6, of the schedule adopted as a part of the Constitution of the State, in February, 1865, and to which said agent of the Bank, in refusing to accept the tender aforesaid referred is in violation of Section 10, Article I, of the Constitution of the United States ; and is also in conflict with Section 20, of the Bill of Rights of the Constitution of the State, said Section 6, does "impair the obligation of a contract" as must be evident to the mind of every one. It takes away the rights and equities secured to the holders of the bills and notes of the Bank under the general Banking law of the State, adopted by the General Assembly in 1857-8. The rights that belonged to the holder of the note of the Bank as a payee, and the rights and equities that belonged to him as debtor of the Bank were vested and perfect prior to the adoption of said amendment. Yet, as your body well knows, your memorialist cannot test the question involved herein (if at all) in the Courts of the United States without great expense to himself and his estate. His condition in this regard is that of hundreds of other citizens of Tennessee, who are debtors to the Bank. Your memorialist is informed that said Section 6, of the amended Constitution, was adopted under the belief that the issue made by the Bank, after May 6, 1861, was made with a view of aiding the rebellion. But your memorialist is informed and so believes, that the issue was made for no such purpose, and was in fact not so used or circulated. On the contrary, the issue was made to meet the wants and necessities of the people of Tennessee, owing to the suspension and insolvency of the Banks of neighboring States that had previous thereto supplied a large portion of the currency of the State. Your memorialist is informed, and so believes, that this alledged new issue was paid out by the Bank to its customers without regard to date of issue and in payment of its debts to depositors and other creditors, and not otherwise.

Under these facts your memorialist submits to the Convention that inasmuch as the faith of the State was pledged to make good any of the deficiencies, or losses, made by said Bank, and inasmuch as great injustice is done him, and others in like condition, by said amendment; that it is equitable, legal and in obedience to the Constitution of the United States that said amendment should be stricken out, and if no more be done, that at least your memorialist should be left unembarrassed by such provision to litigate his rights before the Courts of the State. It is submitted that it must be apparent that the State (the State being the ultimate party to be benefitted under the guarantees as contained in the charter of said Bank) is seeking, by the collection of the notes given by your memorialist's intestate, to avail itself of the acts of the officers of said Bank after May 6, 1861, where it is to be benefitted, and that it seeks to repudiate the acts of said officers where it is likely to be injured. Your memorialist feels assured that such a position is not a just one to the State; wherefore, he prays that said amendment, repugnant, as aforesaid, to the Constitution of the United States be stricken from the Constitution of the State of Tennessee.

R. H. JAMIESON,
Administrator.

Which was read and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

RESPECT TO MRS. JUDGE CATRON.

Mr. NETHERLAND offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to wait on Mrs. Catron, the widow of the late Chief Justice, and ascertain and report when it would suit her convenience to receive a visit of respect from this body.

On motion of Mr. NETHERLAND the rules were suspended and the resolution adopted.

PROTEST :

Mr. GIBSON presented the following

The undersigned cannot consent to the removal of all the Judges, Chancellors, Attorneys for the State, Justices of the Peace, Supreme, Chancery, Circuit and County Court Clerks and Registers without entering a respectful, yet decided protest:

The undersigned do not subscribe to the doctrine, here dogmatically promulgated, that the amending of a Constitution, ipso facto, vacates every office in the State not expressly allowed to remain filled. The undersigned admit that, if there be any office incompatible with the Constitution as amended, or if there be any office the tenure or duties whereof, or the qualifications wherefor, are fundamentally, changed, then would such office be abolished or vacated; but the undersigned go no further, and the undersigned maintain that this is the true doctrine: Where the amendments to a Constitution do not materially change the duties or tenure of an office, or the manner of filling the same, or the qualifications therefor, that then such office continues undisturbed, and its occupant is neither necessarily nor impliedly ousted. In other words, where the office is, in all its essentials, precisely the same in the old as in the amended Constitution, there the office and its incumbent remain precisely the same as though the old Constitution was still in full force. Because, by ratifying the amendments the people do not thereby make a new Constitution: they merely accept the old Constitution as amended. Their ratification vitalizes the amendments only: for the body of the Constitution was already vitalized and the amendments are merely engrafted on this already vitalized body. Suppose this Convention had done nothing but make every man a voter and liable to poll tax and military duty, would any one have maintained that the adoption of these amendments would ipso facto vacate every office in Tennessee?

Having disposed of the political heresy that the adoption of this amended Constitution, ipso facto, vacates all the offices in the State, the undersigned would enumerate the following additional reasons for their vote against the removal of said officers:

1st. The vacation of said offices was not an issue before the people when the delegates were elected: and to vacate these offices is no part of the professed object of this Convention.

2nd. The vacation of the offices of Judge, Chancellor and States Attorney is a direct violation of political faith, said offices having been recently filled by a popular election demanded and brought on by the very men who now seek to empty them again, seek indeed to empty them before fully warmed by their new occupants!

3rd. The vacation of the offices of Justice, Court Clerks and Register is an act of littleness, of petty persecution, utterly unworthy the dignity of a Constitutional Convention, especially when that Convention in no single particular changes the term or tenure of said offices, the method of filling the same, or the qualifications therefor.

4th. The vacation of all of said offices will be construed by the Republicans as a direct partisan blow at them, and as an exhibition of political malice, prompted only by a desire for party vengeance. And thus will strife be perpetuated in Tennessee.

5th. The vacation of said offices is the basest ingratitude to those members of the Republican party, who made this Convention possible, by putting the ballot in the hands of the disfranchised. But those Republicans never dreamed that the weapon they restored would be used to strike down those who restored it. It sounds like the old story of the viper stinging the bosom that had warmed it into life.

6th. The vacation of said offices is in violation of all good precedents, is not required by the necessities of the times, is an ingenious device to put out "the ins" and to put in "the outs," it is a beginning that may be dangerous in its ending, and as a political invention may yet "torment the inventor."

7th. The vacation of said offices is a summary and ex-parte judgement of condemnation pronounced alike on the just and the unjust, the worthy and the unworthy. If any of the incumbents of said offices deserve removal, the amplest power to remove already exists. This summary removal is an act of tyranny, and, as made, is inviolation of the Constitution of the United States.

8th. The vacation of said offices will make the North distrust the South, will be deemed a proclamation of war against Union men, will discourage immigration to the State, will prevent the investment of capital and the development of our resources, will postpone the general removal of Constitutional disabilities by Congress, will give additional reasons for federal intervention, and will delay the return of peace and harmony and the ultimate restoration of the Union.

The undersigned therefore protest against the vacation of said offices, or any of them, and ask that this, their protest be spread upon the Journal.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Convention resumed the consideration of the report of the Committee on the Legislative Department.

Mr. KENNEDY offered the following as an independent section :

No bonds of the State shall be issued to any railroad company that has failed to pay and is now in default of paying the interest upon bonds already issued to it, or that shall at any time before application for such bonds, be in default of such payment, or that has sold or absolutely disposed of any bonds issued to it for less than par.

On motion of Mr. FENTRESS, it was ordered that 100 copies be printed for the use of the Convention, and that it be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. GIBSON offered the following amendment to Section 28 :

Insert the word "exclusively" after the word "used," in the second line; and insert the words "and used" after the word "held" in the same line.

Which was adopted by the Convention.

Mr. GIBSON offered the following amendment to Section 28 :

Strike out the words "one thousand" after the word "except" in the third line, and insert "five hundred."

Mr. CARTER offered the following in lieu of Section 28 :

Article II, Section 28. All lands held by deed, grant or entry, town lots, bank stocks, and such other property as the Legislature may deem, from time to time, expedient, shall be taxable, except such as may be held by the State, by counties, cities or towns, and used for public or corporation purposes, and such as may be held for purposes purely religious, charitable, scientific, literary or educational. All property shall be taxed according to its value, that value to be ascertained in such manner as the Legislature shall direct, so that the sum shall be equal and uniform throughout the State.

No one species of property, from which a tax may be collected, shall be taxed higher than any other species of property of equal value. But the Legislature shall have power to tax merchants, peddlers and privileges, in such manner as they may, from time to time, direct.

The Legislature shall levy a special tax upon incomes derived from stocks and bonds exempted by the laws of the United States from taxation.

All male citizens over the age of twenty-one years shall be liable to a poll-tax of not less than fifty cents nor more than one dollar per annum, until such age as may be fixed by law.

Mr. THOMPSON, of Davidson, offered the following amendment to Section 28 :

Be it resolved, That between the words "taxed" and "except" in the first line of Section 28, be inserted the words "but the Legislature may," so that the section shall read: All property, real, personal or mixed, shall be taxed, but the Legislature may except, etc.

Mr. THOMPSON, of Maury, offered the following as an amendment to Mr. Thompson's of Davidson :

In third line insert between the words "and" and "except" the words "the Legislature may," so that the section will then read, "and the Legislature may except personal property to the amount of," etc.

Which was decided to be out of order, as it was not germane to the amendment it was intended to amend.

The amendment of Mr. THOMPSON, of Davidson, was adopted.

Mr. JONES, of Lincoln, offered the following in lieu of paragraph 1, Section 28 :

All real estate and such personal property as the General Assembly shall designate, shall be taxed according to its value, except such as may be held by the State, by a county, a city or town, and used for State, county, city or town purposes, and such as may be held for purposes purely religious, charitable, scientific, literary or educational.

Mr. THOMPSON, of Maury, again presented his amendment.

Mr. FENTRESS offered the following amendment:

Strike out of Section 28, lines three and four, the words "and except one thousand dollars' worth of personal property in the hands of each tax-payer."

The further consideration of the question was postponed until tomorrow.

MATTHEW McCLUNG,
JOHN P. WHITE,
JOSEPH B. O'BRYAN...

MEMORIALS AND PETITIONS.

Mr. THOMPSON, of Davidson, presented the following memorial:
To the Constitutional Convention of the State of Tennessee, now sitting at Nashville:

Your memorialists would respectfully represent to your honorable body that circumstances have led them to examine the municipal laws of the State in comparison with other States on the subject of taxation and the sources of municipal revenue. We are satisfied that municipal corporations ought to have the power to discriminate in the selection of the species of property to be taxed, and should have authority to exempt certain property taxed by the State, from taxation by themselves and also with privileges. But by Section 28 of the Constitution, Article II, all property is to be taxed according to its value, and no species of property from which tax may be collected, shall be taxed higher than any other species of property of equal value. The consequence is that every species of property the State taxes, the Corporation taxes. By Section 1359 of the Code, Sub-Section 17, it will be seen that all property and privileges within its limits which are subject to taxation by the State, must be taxed by the Corporation; and so it is the case in all municipal corporations granted since the adoption of the Constitution.

Now, what we desire is that the existing Corporations shall have the power to discriminate to tax one species of property, exempt another, or put a lower rate on the one than another, and that the Legislature should be empowered to grant charters allowing such discriminations. That existing municipal corporations shall have the power to levy a general tax on the city or town for corporation purposes, and make a special assessment upon the property fronting on a street for the improvement of the street, and shall have the power to issue bonds for any particular purposes; Provided, They are authorized to do so by a majority of two-thirds of the voters of said corporation at the election held for that purpose, and that they may levy a tax on privileges or not as they may see proper.

And that in all municipal elections, a receipt for his poll tax shall be exhibited and shown to the Judges of said election by the voters to entitle them to vote.

K. J. MORRIS,
Mayor of Nashville,
J. B. WHITE,
Mayor of Edgefield.

Which was read and referred to the Committee on Finance and Corporations.

Mr. DIBBRELL presented a memorial from citizens of Sequatchie county praying that said county be declared a Constitutional county, which, without being read, was referred to the Committee on New Counties and County Lines.

Mr. MARTIN presented a memorial from citizens of Grundy county, praying to be attached to the county of Coffee, which, without being read, was referred to the Committee on New Counties and County Lines.

Out of that portion of Obion county which lies west of low water mark of Reel Foot Lake :

Out of territory made up of fractions of Sumner, Macon and Smith counties ; but no line of such county shall approach the Court-house of Sumner county, nearer than nine and a half miles, nor of Smith county, nearer than ten miles ; nor shall any line thereof include any territory of Macon county lying within nine and a half miles of the Court-house of Macon county, nor shall more than twenty square miles be taken from Macon county ; nor shall the area of Sumner or Smith counties be reduced below four hundred square miles, in the formation of said new county :

The Committee further instruct me to report that, in the opinion of the Committee, the memorials from the counties of Dyer, Gibson, Haywood and Madison; and Fayette, Hardeman and McNairy; and of Henderson, Madison, Carroll and Gibson; and of Maury, Williamson, Rutherford, Marshall and Bedford, are reasonable, and entitled to favorable consideration by this body; these, together with the memorials from the counties of Benton, Decatur, Henderson and Carroll; and Obion, Dyer, Carroll and Weakley; and Hardeman, Madison, McNairy and Henderson; and Weakley, Carroll and Henry; and Lincoln, Bedford and Franklin counties, and the memorial from citizens of Marion county, asking to be attached to Grundy county, have each been fully and fairly investigated by the Committee, and the Committee have instructed me to report said memorials back, and recommend them to the respectful consideration of the Convention, believing them to be entitled to such by this body.

The Committee recommend no amendment to Section 5, of said Article.

A majority of the Committee have instructed me to report that they recommend no other amendments to Section 4, of said Article, than those above specified, from which instruction a minority of the Committee have dissented. Below will be found the Majority Report of the Committee, which they recommend as a substitute for the 4th and 5th Sections of Article X, of the present Constitution.

MAJORITY REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON NEW COUNTIES AND COUNTY LINES.

Section 4. New counties may be established by the Legislature to consist of not less than two hundred and fifty square miles, and which shall contain a population of four hundred and fifty qualified voters. No line of such county shall approach the Court-house of any old county, from which it may be taken, nearer than twelve miles. No part of a county shall be taken off to form a new county, or a part thereof, without the consent of a majority of the qualified voters in such part taken off. And in all cases where an old county may be reduced for the purpose of forming a new one, the seat of justice in said old county shall not be removed without the concurrence of two-thirds of both branches of the Legislature, nor shall said old county be reduced to less than six hundred and twenty-five square miles : Provided, however, that the following exceptions be made to the foregoing provisions, viz : New counties may be established by the present, or any succeeding Legislature, out of the following territory, to-wit :

Out of that portion of Obion county which lies west of low water mark of Reel Foot Lake:

Out of territory made up of fractions of Sumner, Macon and Smith counties; but no line of such county shall approach the Court-house of Sumner county, nearer than nine and a half miles, nor of Smith county, nearer than ten miles; nor shall any line thereof include any territory of Macon county lying within nine and a half miles of the Court-house of Macon county, nor shall more than twenty square miles be taken from Macon county; nor shall the area of Sumner or Smith counties be reduced below four hundred square miles, in the formation of said new county:

Out of territory made up of fractions of Jackson and Overton counties; but no line of such county shall approach the Court-house of Jackson county, or of Overton county, nearer than ten miles:

Out of territory made up of fractions of Grainger and Jefferson counties; but no line of such county shall approach the Court-house of Grainger county, nearer than the Holston River, at the point nearest said Court-house, nor shall any line thereof approach the Court-house of Jefferson county nearer than eleven miles:

Out of territory made up of fractions of Roane, Monroe and Blount counties, but no line of such new county shall approach the towns of Maryville, Kingston or Madisonville, nearer than eleven miles.

The counties of Cheatham and Sequatchie, as now established by Legislative enactments, are hereby declared to be Constitutional counties. Provided, That no other territory of Bledsoe county shall be taken to form a new county, or any part thereof, or attached to any adjoining county.

Sec. 5. The citizens who may be included in any new county, shall vote with the county or counties from which they may have been stricken off, for members of Congress, for Governor and for members of the General Assembly, until the next apportionment of members to the General Assembly after the establishment of such new county.

Mr. GIBBS, from the minority of the Committee on New Counties and County Lines, made the following report, which, on motion of Mr. TAYLOR, was ordered to be laid on the table, and 100 copies printed for the use of the Convention :

REPORT OF THE MINORITY OF THE COMMITTEE ON NEW COUNTIES AND COUNTY LINES.

The undersigned, a minority of the Committee to which was referred the consideration of New Counties and County Lines, beg leave to submit the following report :

That, while agreeing to that portion of the Majority Report recommending the establishment of New Counties with an area of 250 square miles, they cannot concur in the opinion that no old county shall be reduced below an area of 625 square miles, prescribed by the Constitution of 1834.

They believe that many counties, now rapidly filling up with a thrifty and industrious population, and capable of sustaining an immense number of people, will very soon, if they do not now, demand a change in the present order.

While they believe that the framers of the Old Constitution acted for the best, and acted wisely in the then existing condition of affairs, they do not think it was intended by them, in all time to come, to inconvenience the many for the benefit of the few, but that the sparse population of the then unsettled country, was a material consideration with the wise men who framed the Old Constitution, and with the passing away of that reason, has passed away all reason why counties shall be so large.

They hold that the subdivision of counties, within reasonable limits, should depend upon the wants of the people and subserve their convenience, and that true statesmanship should secure to those who actually need it, a convenient and accessible point for the transaction of their legal, police and registration business.

They believe that the present Convention should provide against the annoyance and inconvenience which will result to a very large portion of the tax-payers of Tennessee from a forty years' continuance of the present system, and common prudence should dictate to us to provide, while we can, a remedy for the evil.

They believe that in those cases, where a whole community are deliberately willing to go to themselves, and asking no aid from the counties they leave, build for themselves Court-houses and jails, they should be allowed to do so, especially by the old counties to which they have been tributary, and which retain the buildings erected by their joint efforts. Their willingness to undertake the cost is the best evidence of the utility of the movement.

The State will lose nothing, for where now centres of business, trade, education and religion are found in districts before remote and inaccessible, property will be in enhanced in value proportionate to the increased advantages, and furnish a proportionate increase to her revenue. No longer time will be required to transact the legal business of the section than when it was tied on to the old county, and, therefore, no added cost or labor to the judicial officers; and indeed there will be added no cost to any save themselves, and this will be amply recompensed to them in the saving of time, expense, and travel incurred in attending distant courts, oft-times imperiling their lives by swimming swollen streams which they must cross under subpoena, recompensed to them by being permitted to return to their families after the daily adjournment of courts, instead of camping about the village where courts are usually held, and which seldom have accommodations for the miserable throng of litigants, jurors and witnesses, too far off to go home, and sometimes too poor to pay for good lodging if procurable.

And, besides, the labor system of the country is so changed, its lands being divided into small parcels, and every man becoming his own servant to do his work, that considerations of public convenience require that his compelled absence at court shall not be a journey of days, but shall permit him to chop wood for his shivering children, and feed his famished stock.

The day is past when a gentleman can go to court in his carriage, leaving a host of servants to wait upon his household.

These and many other considerations, which will readily present themselves to the Convention, have induced the undersigned to offer, in lieu of so much of the majority report as re-establishes the old constitutional limits of 625 square miles, and requires a limit of 12 miles from county seats, the following:

Provided, That no old county shall be reduced in forming a new county to a less territory than 450 square miles, and no section of an old county shall be taken off to form a new one, or to be transferred to another, without a majority of the voters of said section voting therefor.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

GEORGE E. SEAY,
RICHARD WARNER, JR.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY.

Mr. HEISKELL, from the Committee on the Judiciary, made the following report, which, on his motion, was ordered to be laid on the table, and 100 copies ordered to be printed for the use of the Convention :

The Judiciary Committee to which has been recommitted the schedule heretofore reported, with the amendments made in the House, have reconsidered these matters with others committed to them and submit the following report :

They have redrawn the schedule so far as it relates to the matters submitted and submit the same herewith.

They also find it necessary to suggest certain changes in other portions of the Constitution connected with the subject referred.

They recommend that the elections of Judges and other civil officers be brought on at the same time, and since political elections are, by our action, changed from the 1st Thursday in August, every two years, and that has been found by experience to be a convenient and suitable time for elections, they suggest that this day be appropriated to the general election for Judicial and civil officers.

They also suggest certain verbal amendments.

Section 1. That no inconvenience may arise from a change of the Constitution, it is declared that the Governor of the State, the members of the General Assembly and all officers, elected at or after the general election of March, 1870, shall hold their offices for the terms prescribed in this Constitution.

All other officers shall vacate their places, thirty days after the day fixed for the election of their successors under this Constitution.

The Secretary of State, Comptroller and Treasurer shall hold their offices until the first session of the present General Assembly occurring after the ratification of this Constitution and until their successors are elected and qualified.

The officers then elected shall hold their offices until the 15th day of January, 1873.

At the first election of Judges under this Constitution there shall be elected six Judges of the Supreme Court, two from each grand division of the State, who shall hold their offices for the term herein prescribed.

In the event any vacancy shall occur in the office of either of said Judges at any time after the first day of January, 1873, it shall remain unfilled and the Court shall from that time be constituted of five Judges.

While the Court shall consist of six judges they may sit in two sections and may hear and determine causes in each at the same time but not in different grand divisions at the same time.

When so sitting the concurrence of two judges shall be necessary to a decision.

The Attorney General and Reporter for the State shall be appointed after the election and qualification of the Judges of the Supreme Court herein provided for.

ARTICLE VII.

In Section 3, insert after the word "Treasurers," "and a Comptroller of the Treasury," and strike out "his or."

In Section 4, strike out the words "that may happen by death, resignation or removal."

Strike out Section 5, and substitute: Elections for Judicial and other civil officers shall be held on the first Thursday in August, 1870, and forever thereafter on the first Thursday in August next preceding the expiration of their respective terms of service.

The term of each officer so elected shall be computed from the first day of September next succeeding his election.

The term of office of the Governor and of other executive officers shall be computed from the 15th of January next after the election of the Governor.

No appointment or election to fill a vacancy shall be made for a period extending beyond the unexpired term.

Every officer shall hold his office until his successor is elected or appointed and qualified.

No special election shall be held to fill a vacancy in the office of Judge or District Attorney, but at the time herein fixed for the general elections of civil officers.

REPORTED BACK.

Mr. HEISKELL, from the Judiciary Committee reported back the resolution of Mr. McDougal in relation to the election of Judges and Attorneys General, and asked to be discharged from its further consideration, as the subject of it was embraced in the report heretofore submitted, and the committee was accordingly discharged.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. GARDNER, from the Committee on Finance, Internal Improvements and Corporations, made the following report:

The Committee have had under consideration the proposition of the delegate from Montgomery (Mr. Kennedy) on the subject of the further issue of State bonds, and a majority of said Committee have instructed me to report the following in lieu of the original proposition, and to recommend its adoption:

"No bonds of the State shall be issued to any railroad company, which, at the time of its application for the same, shall be in default in paying the interest upon State bonds previously loaned to it; or that shall hereafter, and before such application, sell, or absolutely dispose of any State bonds loaned to it for less than par.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN A. GARDNER,
Chairman.

MINORITY REPORT.

Mr. SEAY, from the minority of the Committee on Finance, etc., made the following report on the proposition of Mr. Kennedy:

"The undersigned cannot concur with the report of the majority of the Committee on said proposition, and beg leave to submit the following reasons:

1st. Because we believe the subject matter of said proposition to be more properly matter for legislation, and should be left to be regulated and controlled by the Legislature and not embodied in the organic law of the State. We believe that the Legislature, coming fresh from the people every two years, will be enabled to legislate in regard to such matters so as best to promote the interests of the Commonwealth and of the people, and in a republican form of government can be safely trusted to protect the interests of the State and citizens in such matters.

2nd. Because we insist that said proposition not only trenches upon what is more properly a subject for the Legislature to control, but one which should be left to be passed upon by the Judiciary, should a necessity therefor ever arise, and can be safely trusted in their hands.

3rd. We believe it to be in violation of the spirit of the Constitution of the United States, which declares that "no State shall pass any law impairing the obligation of contracts."

All of which is respectfully submitted.

GEO. E. SEAY,
G. G. DIBBRELL,
JOS. A. MABRY.

On motion of Mr. PORTER, of Haywood, it was ordered that the reports be laid on the table, and 100 copies be printed for the use of the Convention.

PROTEST.

Mr. HEISKELL offered the following protest, which was read and ordered to be spread upon the Journal :

The undersigned have voted against the proposition to except merchants from the protection of the Constitution, and from the rate of equal taxation guaranteed to other classes of the community, ask leave to enter a protest against what they regard as a declaration that the merchant is not entitled to the rights of a citizen.

We think that the principles of constitutional government require that every class of men shall be entitled to the same protection against oppression and against unequal burthens which are guaranteed to other classes. The provision inserted by the Convention, borrowed from the Constitution of 1834, declares that all men shall be taxed equally except merchants and peddlers. Why they should be singled out and subjected to a rule of taxation absolutely prohibited as to any other citizen, the subscribers cannot well perceive. They can see no good reason why merchants should not on the same principle be excluded from the protection of the Constitution as to trial by jury, or habeas corpus, or the clauses which give every man, for an injury done him in "his lands, goods, person or reputation," a remedy by due course of law.

It seems to us that such a proposition is no worse than this power expressly conferred on the Legislature to impose upon a small class of citizens all the burthens of the State.

It, for the period which has elapsed since the Constitution of 1834, this power had remained without exercise, or if the power had been exercised with any regard to principles of justice we might be less reluctant to submit to the violation of the principles of free and just government contained in this objectionable clause of the organic law.

But we know not only that existing power is contrary to just principles, but that it has been continually exercised to discriminate grievously against a portion of our citizens, to overrate them with burthens from which others are protected, by taxation amounting to from ten times to one hundred times the amount imposed on other citizens on the use of the same amount of property or capital. We have on this floor one member who, as a merchant, operating on a small capital, actually paid a tax of twenty-five cents on every dollar of his capital for the privilege of using it one year as a merchant. One-fourth of the whole of his capital taken in one year for taxes, while every other citizen, not of his class, paid at the same time twenty-five cents on every one hundred dollars of his capital, a tax actually one hundred times as much on this individual as upon his neighbors.

A departure from principles so odious, with known consequences so abhorrent to our sense of justice, and so calculated to depress the interests of trade and commerce, we cannot allow to pass without putting on record our solemn protest against it.

We respectfully submit this protest, and ask that it may be spread on the Journal.

Which lies over under the rules.

FRAUDULENT BONDS.

Mr. CAMPBELL submitted the following preamble and resolution :

WHEREAS, It having been stated upon the floor of this Convention, that extensive frauds and irregularities have been committed in obtaining the bonds of the State, for internal improvements and other purposes; that a large number of the bonds of the State have been illegally issued and appropriated; that other securities of the State are now in circulation without legal authority; and that irregularities have been committed in disposing of the Agricultural School Scrip. It is therefore,

Resolved, That the Legislature, now in session, be requested to pass a law creating a commission of three discreet citizens of the State, to be called "The Board of Commissioners on Bond and Public Securities," whose duty it shall be to examine into and adjudicate upon the validity of all bonds, and other securities issued by, and now outstanding against the State, and to report upon any irregularities that may have been committed in the disposition of the Agricultural School Scrip. That said Board of Commissioners have conferred upon them all the power, authority and machinery necessary to carry out the object and purposes of this resolution.

Which lies over under the rule.

Resolved, That the Committee on Revision and Enrollment be instructed to have printed ten thousand copies of the amended Constitution, at as an early day as practicable. The same to be so printed as to show the additions and amendments to the present Constitution.

Which lies over under the rule.

Mr. GIBSON presented the following

PROTEST:

The undersigned having voted against all the propositions that tended to deprive the children of Tennessee of the benefits of free schools, and having especially voted against the 10th Section, c. Article XI of the Constitution, desire to present, by way of protest, the reasons for their vote :

1. Said Section while declaring that "knowledge, learning and virtue are essential to the preservation of Republican institutions," at the same time provides no means to make operative that great truth, and is therefore an acknowledgment that the Convention is either unable or unwilling to devise a method of general public instruction.

2. The consecration of the "Common School Fund" to the "support and encouragement of Common Schools" is a horrid mockery inasmuch as there is not one cent of said "fund" in existence; and the very language sounds like Scripture in the mouth of an infidel.

2. Said section, though one of the longest in the Constitution, has the least in it. It literally means nothing. It is a monstrous conglomeration of uncommonly long sentences, and sounds like an antique epitaph upon Plato's Academy. Its true signification is "hic jacet."

4. Said section says in substance that the children of Tennessee are entitled to common schools, and yet practically denies them schools. And this said section is an inimitable illustration of "how not to do it."

The undersigned believe that the education of her children is the highest duty of the State—a duty not to be postponed in order to pay debts of doubtful obligation, but a duty to be preferred to all others. Free schools and free States are inseparable, for education is the foundation of freedom.

The section, as adopted, is but the dead corpse of the section in the old Constitution. The same body is there, but the life, the money is gone—gone past resurrection, and all that remains is to bury the ghastly carcass of what was once a glory and a blessing to Tennessee, forever out of sight. Why keep the section like an Egyptian mummy, preserved for exhibition in the Constitution, a perpetual offence to the sight, an unpleasant reminder of past good, now vanished forever.

The undersigned, therefore, protest against the adoption of said section as a promise without a fulfillment, a right without enjoyment, a preamble without a resolution, a "glittering generality," a repudiation of a great moral duty, and a deadly blow at education given in the name of friendship, and asked to have this their protest entered on the Journal.

POLL TAX.

On motion of Mr. BRANDON Article IV, Section 1, was amended by adding after the word "poll tax"—"assessed against him"—and it was ordered that the alteration be made in the enrolled copy of the Constitution.

PROTESTS.

Mr. NETHERLAND presented the following protest :

The undersigned respectfully present to the Convention their protest against the action of this Honorable Body in requiring from every voter proof that he has paid his poll tax before he shall be allowed to vote in the elections in this State.

Their protest is made for the following reasons :

1. The elective franchise is a right, dear to every freeman, and necessary to protect him from unjust and unequal laws.

2. This provision may, and in some instances will prevent citizens from voting, as they may not have paid a poll tax because they have not been called on by the collector, or have been absent from home.

3. The provision discriminates in favor of the land holder, and against the citizen who owns no land, and who is only liable for a poll tax. Because the land holder is not bound to show by proof that he has paid the taxes due on his lands, and his age, in many instances, will be such as to exempt him from the payment of any poll tax. And the poor citizen can with justice say, "that you require me to pay the "uttermost farthing," all that I owe to the State, though I am poor, whilst my wealthy neighbor, who owns lands to the value of many thousand dollars, on which the taxes are due and unpaid, and when he is exempt by age from the payment of a poll tax, is allowed to vote, and therefore the provision of the Constitution is unjust and unequal, and discriminates in favor of the wealthy against the poor citizen.

4. The people of Tennessee have lately been relieved from the necessity of oaths and certificates before voting. This, to some extent, renews a system which the past has shown to be odious to the voters of the State. And although we will support the amended Constitution, as we believe it better than the old one, yet, we protest respectfully, but earnestly, against that feature which is contained in it, requiring proof of the payment of the poll tax before voting.

JOHN NETHERLAND,
A. A. KYLE,
THOS. C. MORRIS,
G. W. WALTERS,
JAMES BRITTON,
T. B. IVIE,
MATT. MARTIN,
M. McNABB.

Mr. FENTRESS presented the following protest:

We protest against the adoption of the majority report of the Committee on Franchise and Elections, not only for the reasons assigned in the report of the minority of that Committee, but for the reason that it forces the people to endorse negro suffrage in that, if the people vote against the adoption of the Constitution as submitted, and thereby defeat it, they will be left as they are now, disfranchised, while the negro will remain an actual voter, (though we deny he would be legally so,) so that whether ratified or rejected the negro will be an actual voter. In one event the white man may lose his right to the elective franchise, under the present arbitrary laws, while the negro, in any event, is in the actual possession of a franchise that he has no capacity to exercise or appreciate.

We hold that this Convention has no right to force negro suffrage upon the people of Tennessee.

We hold further, that by adopting this principle of practical equality of races, it is a direct encouragement of a party whose object is, by usurpation, to destroy our republican system and to establish in its stead a consolidated despotism.

JAMES FENTRESS,
Of Hardeman.

WM. BLOUNT CARTER,
Of Carter.

WM. H. WILLIAMSON,
Of Wilson.

S. G. SHEPARD,
Of Wilson.

Mr. PORTER, of Henry, offered the following resolution :

Resolved, That the thanks of the Convention are hereby tendered to Messrs. JOS. A. MABRY & Co., for gratuitously furnishing the delegates copies of their able paper, the Daily Knoxville Whig, during the entire session.

The rules were suspended and the resolution unanimously adopted.

SIGNING THE CONSTITUTION.

Mr. JONES, of Giles, offered the following resolution :

Resolved, That this Convention will meet in this hall on to-morrow morning at half-past nine o'clock and resume the reading of the Constitution, and when the same shall be finished, the same will be signed by such delegates as may desire to do so, and no other business shall be in order or entertained by the Chair, until the Constitution shall be read and signed, when the President will adjourn this Convention without day.

Which, under a suspension of the rules, was adopted.

Committee.

The report was read, adopted and ordered to be certified to the Treasurer of the State.

The Convention then adjourned until to-morrow morning.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 23, 1870.

The Convention met pursuant to adjournment, Mr. President BROWN in the Chair.

The Rev. Mr. CARTER, a member of the Convention, offered the following prayer :

Almighty God! we adore Thee as the King of Kings and the Lord of Lords, and we desire to render unto Thee the homage which is justly due to Thy holy and reverend name! We acknowledge Thee as the author of all the blessings we have received, both as individuals and as a nation! Thou hast given to us this pleasant land, flowing with milk and honey, for our inheritance; and Thou hast also given to us the privileges of free men. For these great and priceless mercies we thank Thee! And while we thank Thee for our mercies, we pray that none of our blessings may be taken from us, but that Thou wouldst continue to guide us, and to shield us from every danger, both from without and from within. May the wounds of the past be healed; may the wrongs we have done each other be forgiven and forgotten, and may the hearts of all our people be bound together with such cords of love as cannot be broken. We thank Thee for the peace and harmony which have prevailed in this body; and we also thank Thee that we, who but a little while ago, were enemies, and were engaged in deadly strife with each other, have learned how much more pleasant and profitable it is for brethren to dwell together in unity.

God of our fathers! spread Thy protecting wings over this great people, and let us learn war no more; but may we study those things which will best secure the peace and prosperity of our beloved country.

We know that we shall see each other's faces in the flesh no more; nevertheless, may the friendships we have here formed be lasting. We know that with many of us the work of life is well nigh finished; therefore we humbly pray, in the name of Thy Son, that when earth's fitful scenes are ended, and when heart and flesh shall fail us, Thou wouldst receive each and every one of us to Thyself in heaven, through Jesus Christ, our Lord, our King and our Redeemer! Amen.

EXPENDITURES.

On motion of Mr. WILLIAMSON, it was ordered that Daniel

Adams be allowed two hundred and twenty-five dollars for enrolling the amended Constitution on parchment.

On motion of Mr. KENNEDY, the Convention took a recess one hour.

Upon reassembling, Mr. NICHOLSON offered the following as an independent section :

“ No county office created by the Legislature shall be filled otherwise than by the people or the County Court.”

On motion of Mr. NICHOLSON, the rules were suspended and the section unanimously adopted.

EXPENDITURES.

Mr. GARNER offered the following resolution :

Resolved, That Messrs. Roberts & Purvis, publishers of the Republican Banner, and Messrs. J. O. Griffith & Co., publishers of the Union and American, be paid the sum of $102 60 each for furnishing to the Convention eighty copies per day of said papers from January 10th, 1870, to February 23rd, 1870.

On motion of Mr. GARNER, the rules were suspended and the resolution adopted.

Which was unanimously adopted.

The President made a suitable acknowledgment of the compliments contained in the resolution.

Mr. PORTER, of Henry, offered the following resolution :

Resolved, That the thanks of the Convention be hereby tendered to T. E. S. Russwurm, Secretary, Thos. W. Jones, Assistant Secretary, W. S. Kyle, Second Assistant Secretary, L. G. Stewart, Doorkeeper, John E. Bennett, Assistant Doorkeeper, H. N. C. Davis, Messenger, and Henry Pearl, Porter, for the faithful manner in which their duties have been performed.

Which was unanimously adopted.

DELIVERY OF CONSTITUTION TO THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. BROWN, of Davidson, offered the following resolution :

Resolved, That when this Convention shall have adjourned sine die the members will proceed in a body to the Capitol, bearing with them the Constitution, enrolled on parchment, and deposit the same with the Governor of the State.

That they will embrace the opportunity thus afforded to call upon the Governor and the two Houses of the General Assembly with a view of tendering our respects and renewing the assurances of regard.

Which was adopted.

Thereupon the President appointed Messrs. HOUSE, of Williamson, GARDNER and KYLE, to wait on the Governor and the General Assembly, and to notify them of the intended visit.

The Convention resumed the reading of the amended Constitution.

ORDINANCE.

1st. Be it ordained by the Convention, That it shall be the duty of the several officers of the State authorized by law to hold elections for members of the General Assembly and other officers, to open and hold an election at the places of holding elections in their respective counties, on the fourth Saturday in March, 1870, for the purpose of receiving the votes of such qualified voters as may desire to vote for the ratification or rejection of the Constitution recommended by this Convention. And the qualification of voters in said election shall be the same as that required in the election of delegates to this Convention.

2d. It shall be the duty of said returning officers, in each county in this State, to enroll the name of each voter on the poll-books prepared for said election, and shall deposit each ballot in the ballot-boxes respectively. Each voter, who wishes to ratify the new Constitution, shall have written or printed on his ticket the words "New Constitution," or words of like import, and each voter, who wishes to vote against the ratification of the new Constitution, shall have written or printed on his ticket the words "Old Constitution," or words of like import.

3d. The election shall be held, and the judges and clerks shall be appointed, as in case of the election of the members of the General Assembly ; and the returning officers, in the presence of the judges or inspectors, shall count the votes given for the "New Constitution," and those given for the "Old Constitution," of which they shall keep a correct estimate in said poll-books. They shall deposit the original poll-books of said election with the Clerks of the County Courts in the respective counties, and shall, within five days after the election, make out accurate statements of the number of votes in their respective counties for and against the new Constitution, and immediately forward by mail a copy of said certificates to the Governor, and one to the Speaker of the Senate. So soon as the poll-books are deposited with the County Court Clerks, they shall certify to the President of the Convention an accurate statement of the number of votes for and against the "New Constitution," as appears in said poll-books. And if any of said returning officers shall fail to make the returns herein provided for within the time required, the Governor shall be authorized to send special messengers for the result of the votes in those counties where officers have so failed to make returns.

4th. Upon the receipt of said returns, it shall be the duty of the Governor, Speaker of the Senate, and President of this Convention, or any two of them, to compare the votes cast in said election, and if it shall appear that a majority of all the votes cast for and against the new Constitution, was for the "New Constitution," it shall be the duty of the Governor, Speaker of the Senate, and President of this Convention, or any two of them, to append a certificate of the result to the Constitution, from which time the Constitution shall be ordained and established as the Constitution of Tennessee, and the Governor shall forthwith make proclamation of the fact that the Constitution has been ordained and established.

5th. The Governor of the State is requested to issue his proclamation as to the election on the 4th Saturday in March, 1870, herein provided for.

EXPLANATION.

Mr. FENTRESS presented the following explanation, before affixing his name to the Constitution :

I sign my name to this Constitution merely to attest its genuineness, and to certify that it has been adopted by a majority of this Convention. As there have been words incorporated in it urging or recommending that the people of Tennessee adopt it, I feel it due to my people and myself so make this explanation.

For my position I refer to my record on the Journal. Time will disclose and posterity realize which of us is right. If the majority who have adopted this Constitution are right, and my fears unfounded, I will rejoice that their superior wisdom controlled our action. If the minority is right, and history shall declare that the action of the majority has tended to hasten our people into anarchy, or a consolidated despotism, a clear conscience shall be my reward.

Mr. CARTER, before signing the Constitution, gave the reasons in substance as above.

ABSENT MEMBERS TO SIGN AT PLEASURE.

Mr. HOUSE, of Williamson, offered the following resolution :

Resolved, That those members of the Convention who have not signed the Constitution, and who are absent from sickness or other cause, be permitted to sign the Constitution at their pleasure.

Which was adopted by the Convention.

The Convention then adjourned sine die.

JOHN C. BROWN, President.

CONSTITUTION.

THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF TENNESSEE,

ADOPTED IN CONVENTION AT NASHVILLE, FEBRUARY 23d, 1870.

PREAMBLE AND DECLARATION.

WHEREAS, The people of the territory of the United States south of the River Ohio, having the right of admission into the General Government as a member State thereof, consistent with the Constitution of the United States, and the act of cession of the State of North Carolina, recognizing the ordinance for the government of the territory of the United States northwest of the Ohio River, by their Delegates and Representatives in Convention assembled, did, on the sixth day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and ninety-six, ordain and establish a Constitution, or form of government, and mutually agreed with each other to form themselves into a free and independent State, by the name of the State of Tennessee; and,

WHEREAS, The General Assembly of the said State of Tennessee (pursuant to the third section of the tenth article of the Constitution,) by an act passed on the 27th day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty-three, entitled, "An Act to provide for the calling of a Convention, passed in obedience to the declared will of the voters of this State, as expressed at the general election of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty-three, did authorize and provide for the election by the people of delegates and representatives, to meet at Nashville, in Davidson County, on the third Monday in May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty-four, for the purpose of revising and amending, or changing the Constitution; and said Convention did accordingly meet and form a Constitution, which was submitted to the people, and was ratified by them, on the first Friday in March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty-five; and.

WHEREAS, The General Assembly of said State of Tennessee, under and in virtue of the first section of the first article of the Declaration of Rights, contained in and forming a part of the existing Constitution of the State, by an act passed on the 15th day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, did provide for the calling of a Convention by the people of the State, to meet at Nashville on the second Monday in January, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and for the election of delegates for the purpose of amending or revising the present Constitution, or forming and making a new Constitution; and,

WHEREAS, The people of the State, in the mode provided by said Act, have called said Convention, and elected delegates to represent them therein; Now, therefore,

We, the Delegates and Representatives of the people of the State of Tennessee, duly elected, and in Convention assembled, in pursuance of said Act of Assembly, have ordained and established the following Constitution and form of government for this State, which we recommend to the people of Tennessee for their ratification: That is to say—

ARTICLE I.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS.

SECTION 1. That all power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are founded on their authority, and instituted for their peace, safety, and happiness; for the advancement of those ends they have, at all times, an unalienable and indefeasible right to alter, reform, or abolish the government in such manner as they may think proper.

SEC. 2. That government being instituted for the common benefit, the doctrine of non-resistance against arbitrary power and oppression is absurd, slavish, and destructive of the good and happiness of mankind.

SEC. 3. That all men have a natural and indefeasible right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own conscience ; that no man can, of right, be compelled to attend, erect, or support any place of worship, or to maintain any minister, against his consent ; that no human authority can, in any case whatever, control or interfere with the rights of conscience ; and that no preference shall ever be given, by law, to any religious establishment or mode of worship.

SEC. 4. That no political or religious test, other than an oath to support the Constitution of the United States and of this State, shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under this State.

SEC. 5. That elections shall be free and equal, and the right of suffrage, as hereinafter declared, shall never be denied to any person entitled thereto, except upon a conviction by a jury of some infamous crime, previously ascertained and declared by law, and judgment thereon by a court of competent jurisdiction.

SEC. 6. That the right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate, and no religious or political test shall ever be required as a qualification for jurors.

SEC. 7. That the people shall be secure in their persons, houses, papers and possessions, from unreasonable searches and seizures ; and that general warrants, whereby an officer may be commanded to search suspected places, without evidence of the fact committed, or to seize any person or persons not named, whose offences are not particularly described and supported by evidence, are dangerous to liberty, and ought not to be granted.

SEC. 8. That no man shall be taken or imprisoned, or disseized of his freehold, liberties or privileges, or outlawed, or exiled, or in any manner destroyed, or deprived of his life, liberty, or property, but by the judgment of his peers or the law of the land.

SEC. 9. That in all criminal prosecutions, the accused hath the right to be heard by himself and his counsel ; to demand the nature and cause of the accusation against him, and to have a copy thereof ; to meet the witnesses face to face ; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor ; and in prosecutions by indictment or presentment, a speedy public trial by an impartial jury of the county in which the crime shall have been committed, and shall not be compelled to give evidence against himself.

SEC. 10. That no person shall, for the same offence, be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb.

SEC. 11. That laws made for the punishment of acts committed previous to the existence of such laws, and by them only declared criminal, are contrary to the principles of a free government; wherefore no ex post facto law shall be made.

SEC. 12. That no conviction shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture of estate. The estate of such persons as shall destroy their own lives shall descend or vest as in case of natural death. If any person be killed by casualty, there shall be no forfeiture in consequence thereof.

SEC. 13. That no person arrested and confined in jail shall be treated with unnecessary rigor.

SEC. 14. That no person shall be put to answer any criminal charge but by presentment, indictment or impeachment.

SEC. 15. That all prisoners shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, unless for capital offences, when the proof is evident or the presumption great. And the privileges of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when, in case of rebellion or invasion, the General Assembly shall declare the public safety requires it.

SEC. 16. That excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

SEC. 17. That all courts shall be open ; and every man, for an injury done him in his lands, goods, person or reputation, shall have remedy by due course of law, and right and justice administered without sale, denial, or delay. Suits may be brought against the State in such manner and in such courts as the Legislature may by law direct.

SEC. 18. The Legislature shall pass no law authorizing imprisonment for debt in civil cases.

SEC. 19. That the printing presses shall be free to every person to examine the proceedings of the Legislature, or of any branch or officer of the Government ; and no law shall ever be made to restrain the right thereof. The free communication of thoughts and opinions is one of the invaluable rights of man, and every citizen may freely speak, write and print on any subject, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty. But in prosecutions for the publication of papers investigating the official conduct of officers or men in public capacity, the truth thereof may be given in evidence; and in all indictments for libel the jury shall have a right to determine the law and the facts, under the direction of the court, as in other criminal cases.

SEC. 20. That no retrospective law, or law impairing the obligations of contracts, shall be made.

SEC. 21. That no man's particular services shall be demanded, or property taken or applied to public use, without the consent of his representatives, or without just compensation being made therefor.

SEC. 22. That perpetuities and monopolies are contrary to the genius of a free State, and shall not be allowed.

SEC. 23. That the citizens have a right in a peaceable manner to assemble together for their common good, to instruct their representatives, and to apply to those invested with the powers of government for redress of grievances, or other proper purposes, by address or remonstrance.

SEC. 24. That the sure and certain defense of a free people is a well-regulated militia; and, as standing armies in time of peace are dangerous to freedom, they ought to be avoided as far as the circumstances and safety of the community will admit; and that in all cases the military shall be kept in strict subordination to the civil authority.

SEC. 25. That no citizen of this State, except such as are employed in the army of the United States, or militia in actual service, shall be subjected to punishment under the martial or military law. That martial law, in the sense of the unrestricted power of military officers or others, to dispose of the persons, liberties or property of the citizen, is inconsistent with the principles of free government, and is not confided to any department of the government of this State.

SEC. 26. That the citizens of this State have a right to keep and to bear arms for their common defense. But the Legislature shall have power, by law, to regulate the wearing of arms with a view to prevent crime.

SEC. 27. That no soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; nor in time of war but in a manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 28. That no citizen of this State shall be compelled to bear arms, provided he will pay an equivalent, to be ascertained by law.

SEC. 29. That an equal participation in the free navigation of the Mississippi is one of the inherent rights of the citizens of this State; it cannot, therefore, be conceded to any prince, potentate, power, person or persons, whatever.

SEC. 30. That no hereditary emoluments, privileges or honors, shall be granted or conferred in this State.

SEC. 31. That the limits and boundaries of this State be ascertained, it is declared they are as hereafter mentioned, that is to say: Beginning on the extreme height of the Stone Mountain, at the place where the line of Virginia intersects it, in latitude thirty-six degrees and thirty minutes north; running thence along the extreme height of the said mountain to the place where the Watauga River breaks through it; thence a direct course to the top of the Yellow Mountain, where Bright's road crosses the same; thence along the ridge of said mountain, between the waters of Doe River and the waters of Rock Creek, to the place where the road crosses the Iron Mountain; from thence, along the extreme height of said mountain, to the place where Nolichucky River runs through the same; thence to the top of the Bald Mountain; thence along the extreme height of said mountain to the Painted Rock, on French Broad River; thence along the highest ridge of said mountain to the place where it is called the Great Iron or Smoky Mountain; thence along the extreme height of said mountain to the place where it is called Unicoi or Unaka Mountain, between the Indian towns of Cowee and Old Chota; thence along the main ridge of the said mountain to the southern boundary of this State, as described in the act of cession of North Carolina to the United States of America; and that all the territory, lands and waters, lying west of the said line, as before mentioned, and contained within the chartered limits of the State of North Carolina, are within the boundaries and limits of this State, over which the people have the right of exercising sovereignty, and the right of soil, so far as is consistent with the Constitution of the United States, recognizing the Articles of Confederation, the Bill of Rights, and Constitution of North Carolina, the cession act of the said State, and the ordinance of Congress for the government of the territory northwest of the Ohio; Provided, nothing herein contained shall extend to affect the claim or claims of individuals to any part of the soil which is recognized to them by the aforesaid cession act; And, provided also, That the limits and jurisdiction of this State shall extend to any other land and territory now acquired, or that may hereafter be acquired, by compact or agreement with other States or otherwise, although such land and territory are not included within the boundaries hereinbefore designated.

SEC. 32. That the erection of safe and comfortable prisons, and inspection of prisons, and the humane treatment of prisoners shall be provided for.

SEC. 33. That slavery and involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, are forever prohibited in this State.

SEC. 34. The General Assembly shall make no law recognizing the right of property in man.

ARTICLE II.

DISTRIBUTION OF POWERS.

SECTION 1. The powers of the Government shall be divided into three distinct Departments: The Legislative, Executive and Judicial.

SEC. 2. No person or persons belonging to one of these departments shall exercise any of the powers properly belonging to either of the others, except in the cases herein directed or permitted.

THE LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

SEC. 3. The Legislative authority of this State shall be vested in a General Assembly, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives, both dependent on the people, who shall hold their offices for two years from the day of the general election.

SEC. 4. An enumeration of the qualified voters, and an apportionment of the Representatives in the General Assembly, shall be made in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, and within every subsequent term of ten years.

SEC. 5. The number of Representatives shall, at the several periods of making the enumeration, be apportioned among the several counties or districts, according to the number of qualified voters in each, and shall not exceed seventy-five, until the population of the State shall be one million and a half, and shall never exceed ninety-nine: Provided, That any county having two-thirds of the ratio shall be entitled to one member.

SEC. 6. The number of Senators shall, at the several periods of making the enumeration, be apportioned among the several counties or districts, according to the number of qualified electors in each, and shall not exceed one-third the number of Representatives. In apportioning the Senators among the different counties, the fraction that may be lost by any county or counties, in the apportionment of members to the House of Representatives, shall be made up to such county or counties in the Senate as near as may be practicable. When a district is composed of two or more counties, they shall be adjoining, and no county shall be divided in forming a district.

SEC. 7. The first election for Senators and Representatives shall be held on the second Tuesday in November, one thousand eight hundred and seventy; and forever thereafter, elections for members of the General Assembly shall be held once in two years, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. Said elections shall terminate the same day.

SEC. 8. The first session of the General Assembly shall commence on the first Monday in October, 1871, at which time the term of service of the members shall commence, and expire on the first Tuesday of November, 1872, at which session the Governor elected on the second Tuesday in November, 1870, shall be inaugurated; and forever thereafter, the General Assembly shall meet on the first Monday in January next ensuing the election, at which session thereof the Governor shall be inaugurated.

SEC. 9. No person shall be a Representative unless he shall be a citizen of the United States, of the age of twenty-one years, and shall have been a citizen of this State for three years, and a resident in the county he represents one year immediately preceding the election.

SEC. 10. No person shall be a Senator unless he shall be a citizen of the United States, of the age of thirty years, and shall have resided three years in this State, and one year in the county or district immediately preceding the election. No Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be eligible to any office or place of trust, the appointment to which is vested in the Executive or General Assembly, except to the office of trustee of a literary institution.

SEC. 11. The Senate and House of Representatives, when assembled, shall each choose a Speaker and its other officers; be judges of the qualifications and elections of its members, and sit upon its own adjournments from day to day. Not less than two-thirds of all the members to which each house shall be entitled shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized by law to compel the attendance of absent members.

SEC. 12. Each House may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member, but not a second time for the same offence; and shall have all other powers necessary for a branch of the Legislature of a free State.

SEC. 13. Senators and Representatives shall, in all cases except treason, felony, or breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during the session of the General Assembly, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either House they shall not be questioned in any other place.

SEC. 14. Each House may punish by imprisonment, during its session, any person not a member, who shall be guilty of disrespect to the House, by any disorderly or any contemptuous behavior in its presence.

SEC. 15. When vacancies happen in either House, the Governor for the time being shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

SEC. 16. Neither House shall, during its session, adjourn without the consent of the other, for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.

SEC. 17. Bills may originate in either House; but may be amended, altered or rejected by the other. No bill shall become a law, which embraces more than one subject; that subject to be expressed in the title. All acts which repeal, revive or amend former laws, shall recite in their caption or otherwise, the title or substance of the law repealed, revived or amended.

SEC. 18. Every bill shall be read once on three different days, and be passed each time in the House where it originated, before transmission to the other. No bill shall become a law until it shall have been read and passed, on three different days in each House, and shall have received on its final passage, in each House, the assent of a majority of all the members to which that House shall be entitled under this Constitution; and shall have been signed by the respective Speakers in open session—the fact of such signing to be noted on the Journal; and shall have received the approval of the Governor, or shall have been otherwise passed under the provisions of this Constitution.

SEC. 19. After a bill has been rejected, no bill containing the same substance shall be passed into a law during the same session.

SEC. 20. The style of the laws of the State shall be, "Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee." No law of a general nature shall take effect until forty days after its passage, unless the same or the caption thereof shall state that the public welfare requires that it should take effect sooner.

SEC. 21. Each House shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish it, except such parts as the welfare of the State may require to be kept secret; the ayes and noes shall be taken in each House upon the final passage of every bill of a general character, and bills making appropriations of public moneys; and the ayes and noes of the members on any question, shall, at the request of any five of them, be entered on the journal.

SEC. 7. The Legislature shall fix the rate of interest, and the rate so established shall be equal and uniform throughout the State; but the Legislature may provide for a conventional rate of interest, not to exceed ten per cent. per annum.

SEC. 8. The Legislature shall have no power to suspend any general law for the benefit of any particular individual, nor to pass any law for the benefit of individuals, inconsistent with the general laws of the land; nor to pass any law granting to any individual or individuals, rights, privileges, immunities, or exemptions, other than such as may be, by the same law, extended to any member of the community who may be able to bring himself within the provisions of such law. No corporation shall be created, or its powers increased or diminished by special laws, but the General Assembly shall provide by general laws, for the organization of all corporations hereafter created, which laws may, at any time, be altered or repealed; and no such alteration or repeal shall interfere with, or divest, rights which have become vested.

SEC. 9. The Legislature shall have the right to vest such powers in the courts of justice, with regard to private and local affairs, as may be expedient.

SEC. 10. A well-regulated system of internal improvement is calculated to develop the resources of the State, and promote the happiness and prosperity of her citizens; therefore, it ought to be encouraged by the General Assembly.

SEC. 11. A homestead, in the possession of each head of a family, and the improvements thereon, to the value, in all of one thousand dollars, shall be exempt from sale under legal process during the life of such head of a family, to inure to the benefit of the widow, and shall be exempt during the minority of their children occupying the same. Nor shall said property be alienated without the joint consent of the husband and wife when that relation exists. This exemption shall not operate against public taxes, nor debts contracted for the purchase money of such homestead, or improvements thereon.

SEC. 12. Knowledge, learning and virtue, being essential to the preservation of republican institutions, and the diffusion of the opportunities and advantages of education throughout the different portions of the State being highly conducive to the promotion of this end, it shall be the duty of the General Assembly, in all future periods of this Government, to cherish literature and science. And the fund called the common school fund, and all the lands and proceeds thereof, dividends, stocks and other property of every description whatever, heretofore by law appropriated by the General Assembly of this State for the use of common schools, and all such as shall hereafter be appropriated, shall remain a perpetual fund, the principal of which shall never be diminished by Legislative appropriation; and the interest thereof shall be inviolably appropriated to the support and encouragement of common schools throughout the State, and for the equal benefit of all the people thereof; and no law shall be made authorizing said fund, or any part thereof, to be diverted to any other use than the support and encouragement of common schools. The State taxes derived hereafter from polls shall be appropriated to educational purposes, in such manner as the General Assembly shall, from time to time, direct by law. No school established or aided under this section shall allow white and negro children to be received as scholars together in the same school. The above provision shall not prevent the Legislature from carrying into effect any laws that have been passed in favor of the Colleges, Universities or Academies, or from authorizing heirs or distributees to receive and enjoy escheated property under such laws as may be passed from time to time.

SEC. 13. The General Assembly shall have power to enact laws for the protection and preservation of game and fish within the State, and such laws may be enacted for and applied and enforced in particular counties or geographical districts designated by the General Assembly.

SEC. 14. The intermarriage of white persons with negroes, mulattoes, or persons of mixed blood, descended from a negro to the third generation, inclusive, or their living together as man and wife, in this State, is prohibited. The Legislature shall enforce this section by appropriate legislation.

SEC. 15. No person shall, in time of peace, be required to perform any service to the public on any day set apart by his religion as a day of rest.

SEC. 16. The declaration of rights, hereto prefixed, is declared to be a part of the Constitution of this State, and shall never be violated on any pretense whatever. And to guard against transgression of the high powers we have delegated, we declare that every thing in the Bill of Rights contained is excepted out of the general powers of the government, and shall forever remain inviolate.

SEC. 17. No county office created by the Legislature shall be filled otherwise than by the people or the County Court.

SCHEDULE.

SECTION 1. That no inconvenience may arise from a change of the Constitution, it is declared that the Governor of the State, the members of the General Assembly, and all officers elected at or after the general election of March, 1870, shall hold their offices for the terms prescribed in this Constitution.

Officers appointed by the courts shall be filled by appointment, to be made and to take effect during the first term of the court held by Judges elected under this Constitution.

All other officers shall vacate their places thirty days after the day fixed for the election of their successors under this Constitution.

The Secretary of State, Comptroller, and Treasurer, shall hold their offices until the first session of the present General Assembly occurring after the ratification of this Constitution, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

The officers then elected shall hold their offices until the 15th day of January, 1873.

SEC. 2. At the first election of Judges under this Constitution, there shall be elected six Judges of the Supreme Court, two from each grand division of the State, who shall hold their offices for the term herein prescribed.

In the event any vacancy shall occur in the offices of either of said Judges at any time after the first day of January, 1873, it shall remain unfilled, and the Court shall from that time be constituted of five Judges.

While the Court shall consist of six Judges they may sit in two sections, and may hear and determine causes in each at the same time, but not in different grand divisions at the same time.

When so sitting the concurrence of two Judges shall be necessary to a decision.

The Attorney-General and Reporter for the State shall be appointed after the election and qualification of the Judges of the Supreme Court herein provided for.

SEC. 3. Every Judge and every officer of the Executive Department of this State, and every Sheriff holding over under this Constitution, shall, within twenty days after the ratification of this Constitution is proclaimed, take an oath to support the same, and the failure of any officer to take such oath shall vacate his office.

SEC. 4. The time which has elapsed from the 6th day of May, 1861, until the 1st day of January, 1867, shall not be computed in any cases affected by the statutes of limitation, nor shall any writ of error be affected by such lapse of time.

Done in Convention, at Nashville, the 23d day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and of the independence of the United States the ninety-fourth. In testimony whereof we have hereunto set our names.

ORDINANCE.

1. Be it ordained by the Convention, That it shall be the duty of the several officers of the State, authorized by law to hold elections for members of the General Assembly and other officers, to open and hold an election at the place of holding said elections in their respective counties, on the fourth Saturday in March, 1870, for the purpose of receiving the votes of such qualified voters as may desire to vote for the ratification or rejection of the Constitution recommended by this Convention. And the qualification of voters in said election be the same as that required in the election of delegates to this Convention.

2. It shall be the duty of said returning officers, in each county in this State, to enroll the name of each voter on the poll-books prepared for said election, and shall deposit each ballot in the ballot-boxes respectively. Each voter who wishes to ratify the new Constitution shall have written or printed on his ticket the words, "New Constitution," or words of like import; and each voter who wishes to vote against the ratification of the new Constitution shall have written or printed on his ticket the words, "Old Constitution," or words of like import.

Sec. 3. The election shall be held, and the judges and clerks shall be appointed, as in the case of the election of the members of the General Assembly, and the returning officers, in presence of the judges or inspectors, shall count the votes given for the "New Constitution," and of those given for the "Old Constitution," of which they shall keep a correct estimate in said poll books. They shall deposit the original poll books of said election with the Clerks of the County Courts in the respective counties, and shall, within five days after the election, make out accurate statements of the number of votes in their respective counties, for and against the "New Constitution," and immediately forward by mail, one copy of said certificates to the Governor, and one to the Speaker of the Senate. So soon as the poll books are deposited with the County Court Clerks, they shall certify to the President of the Convention, an accurate statement of the number of votes cast, for and against the "New Constitution," as appears on said poll books. And, if any of said returning officers shall fail to make the returns herein provided for, within the time required, the Governor shall be authorized to send special messengers for the result of the vote in those counties whose officers have so failed to make returns.

4. Upon the receipt of said returns, it shall be the duty of the Governor, Speaker of the Senate, and the President of this Convention, or any two of them, to compare the votes cast in said election; and if it shall appear that a majority of all the votes cast for and against the New Constitution were for "New Constitution," it shall be the duty of the Governor, Speaker of the Senate, and President of this Convention, or any two of them, to append to this Constitution a certificate of the result of the votes, from which time the Constitution shall be established as the Constitution of Tennessee, and the Governor shall make proclamation of the result.

5. The Governor of the State is requested to issue his proclamation as to the election on the fourth Saturday in March, 1870, herein provided for.

CERTIFICATE OF RATIFICATION.

STATE OF TENNESSEE:

In pursuance of the fourth Ordinance of the late Constitutional Convention of the State of Tennessee, adopted on the twenty-third of February, one thousand eight hundred and seventy, in the City of Nashville, we, D. W. C. SENTER, Governor of said State, and JOHN C. BROWN, President of said Convention, and D. B. THOMAS, Speaker of the Senate, do hereby certify that we have carefully compared the votes for and against the New Constitution, in the election on the fourth Saturday of March, one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and we certify that the vote cast in the entire State, leaving out the Counties of Knox, Grainger, Roane and Overton (from which there are no official returns), was one hundred and thirty-two thousand. Of these, ninety-eight thousand one hundred and twenty-eight votes were for the New Constitution, and thirty-three thousand eight hundred and seventy-two votes were for the old Constitution, and that the majority for the New Constitution was sixty-four thousand two hundred and fifty-six, and we certify, accordingly, the ratification of the New Constitution.

Done at the Executive Department, in the City of Nashville, this fifth day of May, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and of the American Independence the ninety-fourth.

THE GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION

DECLARING THE

RATIFICATION OF THE NEW CONSTITUTION.

STATE OF TENNESSEE, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
NASHVILLE, May 5, 1870. }

In pursuance of the fourth Ordinance of the late Constitutional Convention, I have carefully examined the official returns of the election held on the 26th day of March last, for the ratification or rejection of the proposed New Constitution for the State of Tennessee, (except the Counties of Knox, Grainger, Roane and Overton, which returns have not been received,) and find the number of votes cast for "New Constitution" to be (98,128) ninety-eight thousand one hundred and twenty-eight, and for the "Old Constitution" (33,872) thirty-three thousand eight hundred and seventy-two, being a majority of (64,256) sixty-four thousand two hundred and fifty-six for the New Constitution.

Now, therefore, I, D. W. C. SENTER, Governor of the State of Tennessee, by virtue of the power and authority in me vested, do hereby declare and proclaim that the "New Constitution," as submitted to the people, was ratified by them at the ballot-box, on the 26th day of March last, by said majority of (64,256) sixty-four thousand two hundred and fifty-six votes.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto subscribed my official signature, and ordered the Great Seal of the State [SEAL.] to be affixed. Done at the Department in the City of Nashville, this fifth day of May, A. D., 1870, and of the American Independence the ninety-fourth.

D. W. C. SENTER.

ACT AUTHORIZING THE CONVENTION.

THE ACT
OF THE
GENERAL ASSEMBLY
AUTHORIZING THE CONVENTION.

[Laws of 1869-70, Chapter CV.]

AN ACT to authorize the people to call a Convention, and for other purposes.

WHEREAS, According to Section 1, Article I, of the Declaration of Rights, all power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are founded on their authority and instituted for their peace, safety and happiness ; and,

WHEREAS, It is declared that, for the advancement of these ends, the people have, at all times, an inalienable and indefeasible right to alter, reform or abolish the Government in such manner as they may think proper ; and,

WHEREAS, In the opinion of this General Assembly, the public exigencies do now demand the exercise of these inherent and reserved powers on the part of the people of the State: Therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, That every male person not convicted and rendered infamous for crime, of the age of 21 years, being a citizen of the United States and a citizen of the county where he may offer his vote, six months next preceding the day of election, is hereby authorised to assemble on the third Saturday of December, 1869, at the several places of holding elections in the several counties, and vote for or against calling a Convention to amend, revise, or form and make a new Constitution for the State ; and no certificate or other qualification than the foregoing shall be required by the Judges holding said election.

SEC. 2. Be it further enacted, That in submitting the question of a Convention to the people, they shall have written or printed on their ballots the words "Convention," or "No Convention," and if the number of votes cast for a Convention be greater than the votes cast against a Convention, then there shall be a Convention.

SEC. 3. Be it further enacted, That an election for delegates to a Convention of the people of the State shall be held in the several counties thereof at the same time and places, and that said election shall be held at all the precincts and voting places established by law, and shall be managed and conducted by the Commissioners of Registration and other proper officers of the counties respectively, in the same manner and under the same rules and regulations that members of the General Assembly are now elected. And it is hereby declared to be the duty of the Governor to issue his proclamation to the several Commissioners of Registration of the State immediately after the passage of this act, requiring them to hold and conduct the same as herein provided. The said Commissioners of Registration shall advertise the time and places of said election as in cases of members of the General Assembly.

SEC. 4. Be it further enacted, That the whole number of delegates elected to said Convention shall be seventy-five.

SEC. 5. Be it further enacted, That each one of the Representative Districts, as established by the apportionment act of 19th of February, 1852, shall constitute a district, and elect and send to said Convention exactly the same number of delegates that they have Representatives in the General Assembly by said act of apportionment.

SEC. 6. Be it further enacted, That each one of the Floatorial Districts, as established by said act of apportionment, shall constitute a district, and elect and send to said Convention one delegate.

SEC. 7. Be it further enacted, That the votes in the several Representative and Floatorial Districts shall be compared at the several places where the votes for members of the General Assembly were compared in the last August election.

SEC. 8. Be it further enacted, That no person shall be eligible to a seat in said Convention who is not twenty-one years of age, and who has not been a citizen of the State for twelve months, and of the county and district from which he is elected six months immediately preceding the election.

SEC. 9. Be it further enacted, That all laws requiring test-oaths to enable persons to become candidates for office, or requiring Judges and Clerks of elections to take such oaths, shall not apply to the election under this act.

SEC. 10. Be it further enacted, That in case of the death, refusal to serve, resignation or removal from this State of any delegate, the vacancy occasioned thereby shall be filled in the same manner prescribed by law for the filling of vacancies in the representation to the General Assembly.

SEC. 11. Be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the Commissioner of Registration of each county in the State, immediately after said election, to make a complete return to the Secretary of State of the votes cast "for Convention" or "no Convention," and for delegates in his county. The certificate of election of the returning officer or officers of the county or districts, shall be prima facie evidence of the right of any delegate to a seat in said Convention, subject, if contested, to be decided in the manner the Convention may prescribe.

SEC. 12. Be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the Governor and Secretary of State to compare the returns made by the Commissioners of Registration, and if a majority of those voting be in favor of a Convention, it shall be the duty of the Governor immediately to issue his proclamation announcing the result, and said Convention shall convene in the city of Nashville, on the second Monday in January, 1870; and when so assembled, said dellegates shall organize themselves into a Constitutional Convention, by the election of a President and such other officers as they may deem necessary.

SEC. 13. Be it further enacted, That said Convention shall adopt such rules and regulations for its government, and the transaction of business as it shall think proper, and that the members and officers of said Convention shall receive the same compensation as is now allowed by law to the members and officers of the General Assembly of the State, and to be paid in the same manner by the Treasurer.

SEC. 14. Be it further enacted, That the Constitution or form of government which said Convention may adopt, shall not be of any binding force or efficacy until the same has been submitted to and ratified by the people of the State, in such manner and at such time as the Convention shall provide.

SEC. 15. Be it further enacted, That should any county have no Commissioner of Registration at the time of said election, or should the Commissioner of Registration fail or refuse to hold said election, then in that event, it shall be the duty of the Sheriff of each county to open and hold such an election, subject to the same rules and regulations as imposed upon Commissioners of Registration by this act.

SEC. 16. Be it further enacted, That in all cases when the Commissioner or Sheriff fails or refuses, or from any other cause, fails to hold said election, it shall be lawful for any freeholder to hold said election, by summoning as many bystanders as may be necessary to hold said election, all of whom shall be freeholders.

SEC. 17. Be it further enacted, That this act shall take effect from and after its passage.

W. O'N. PERKINS,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Speaker of the Senate.
